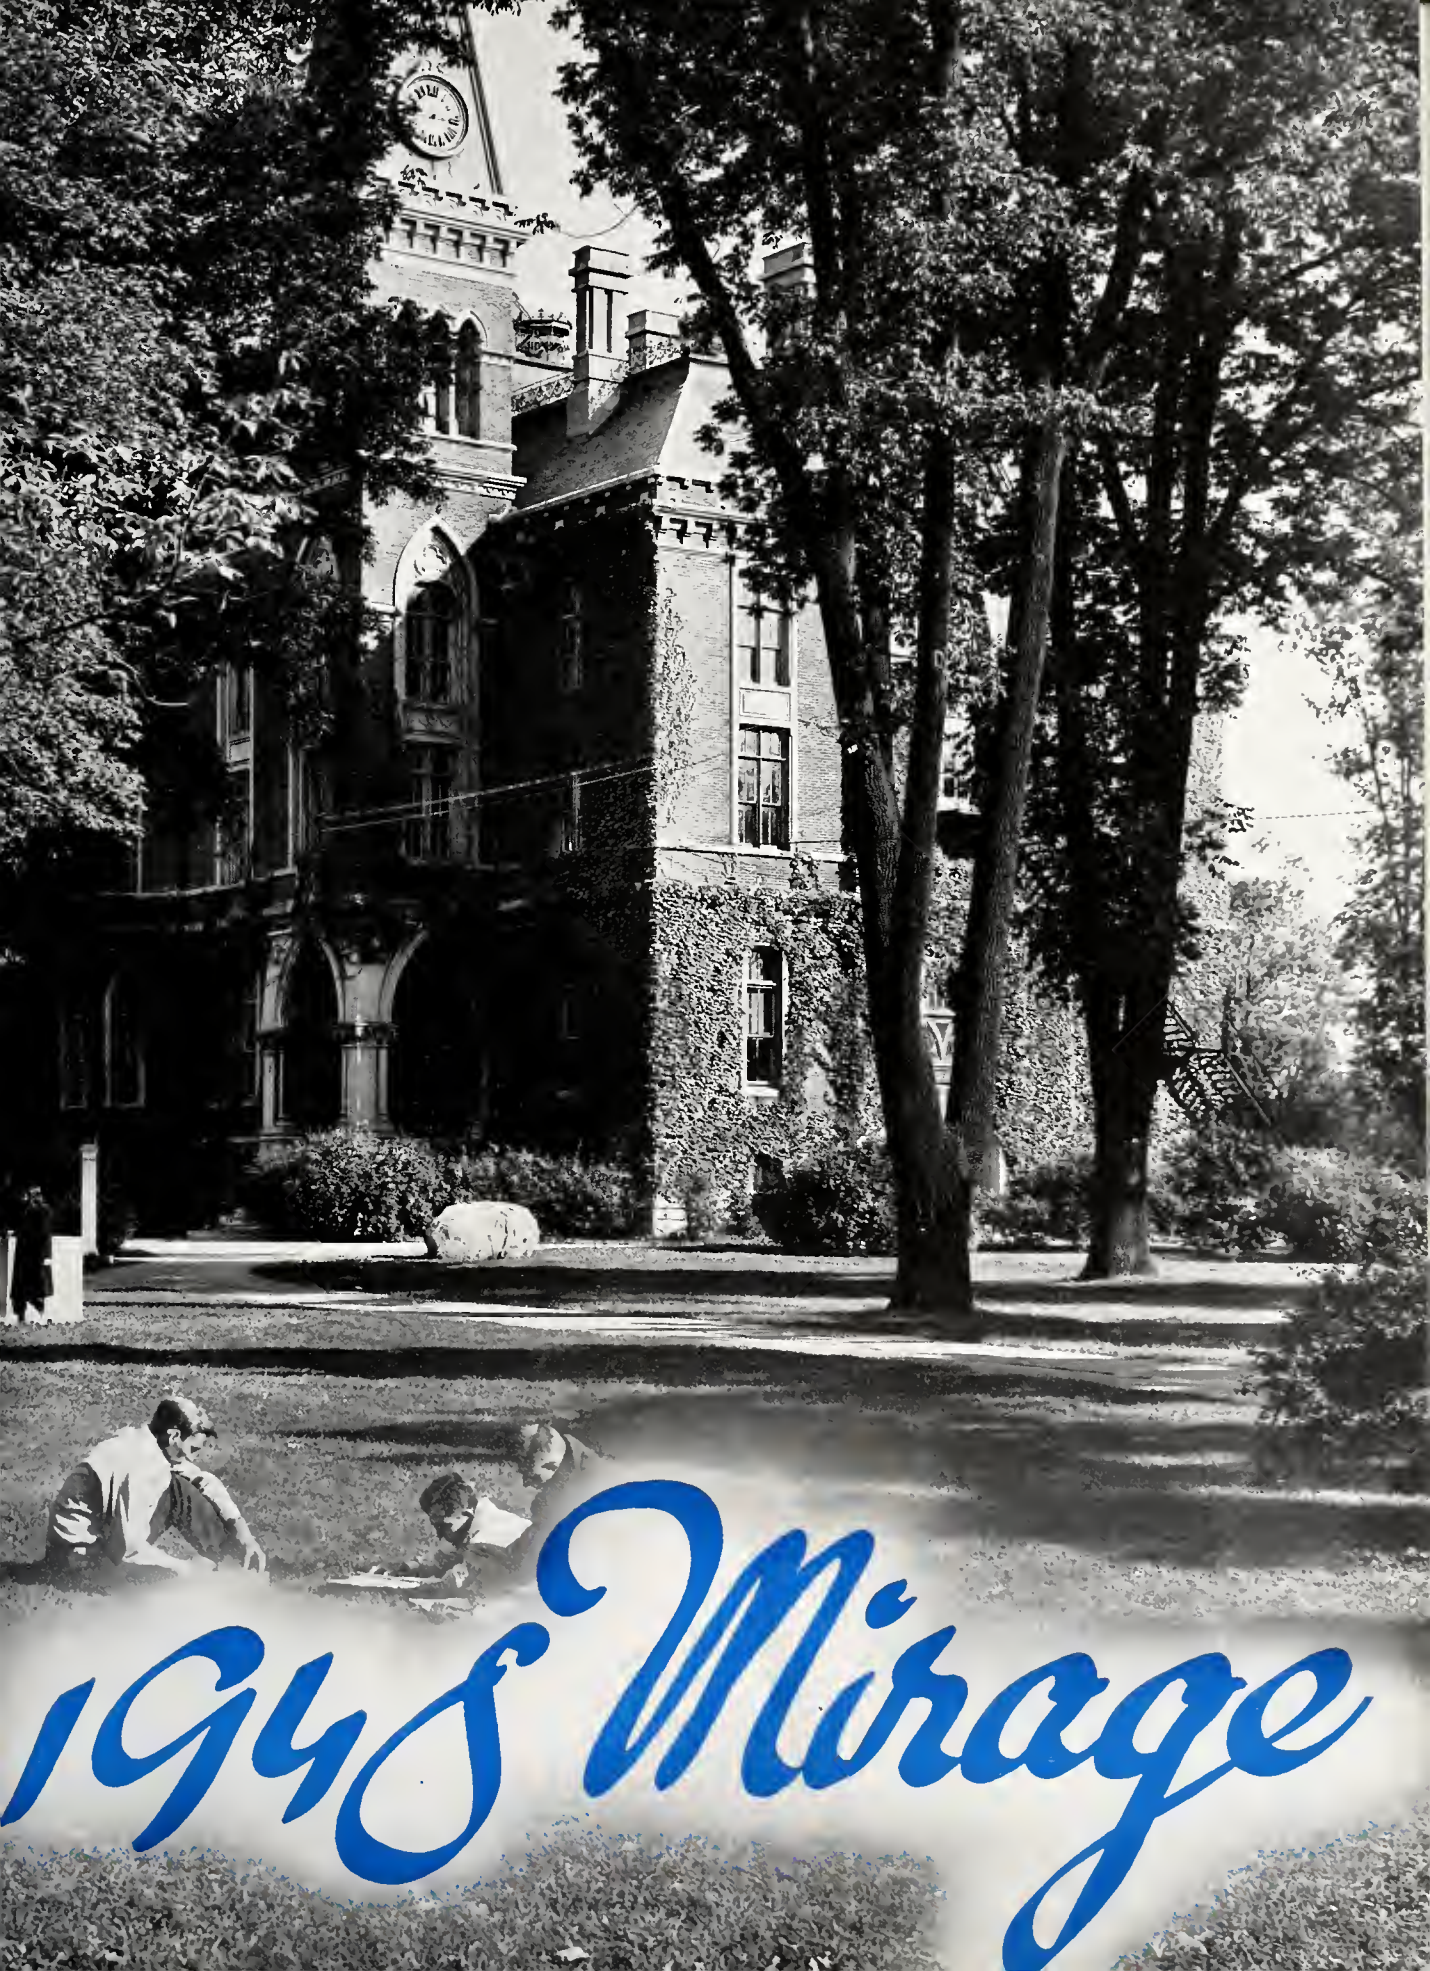
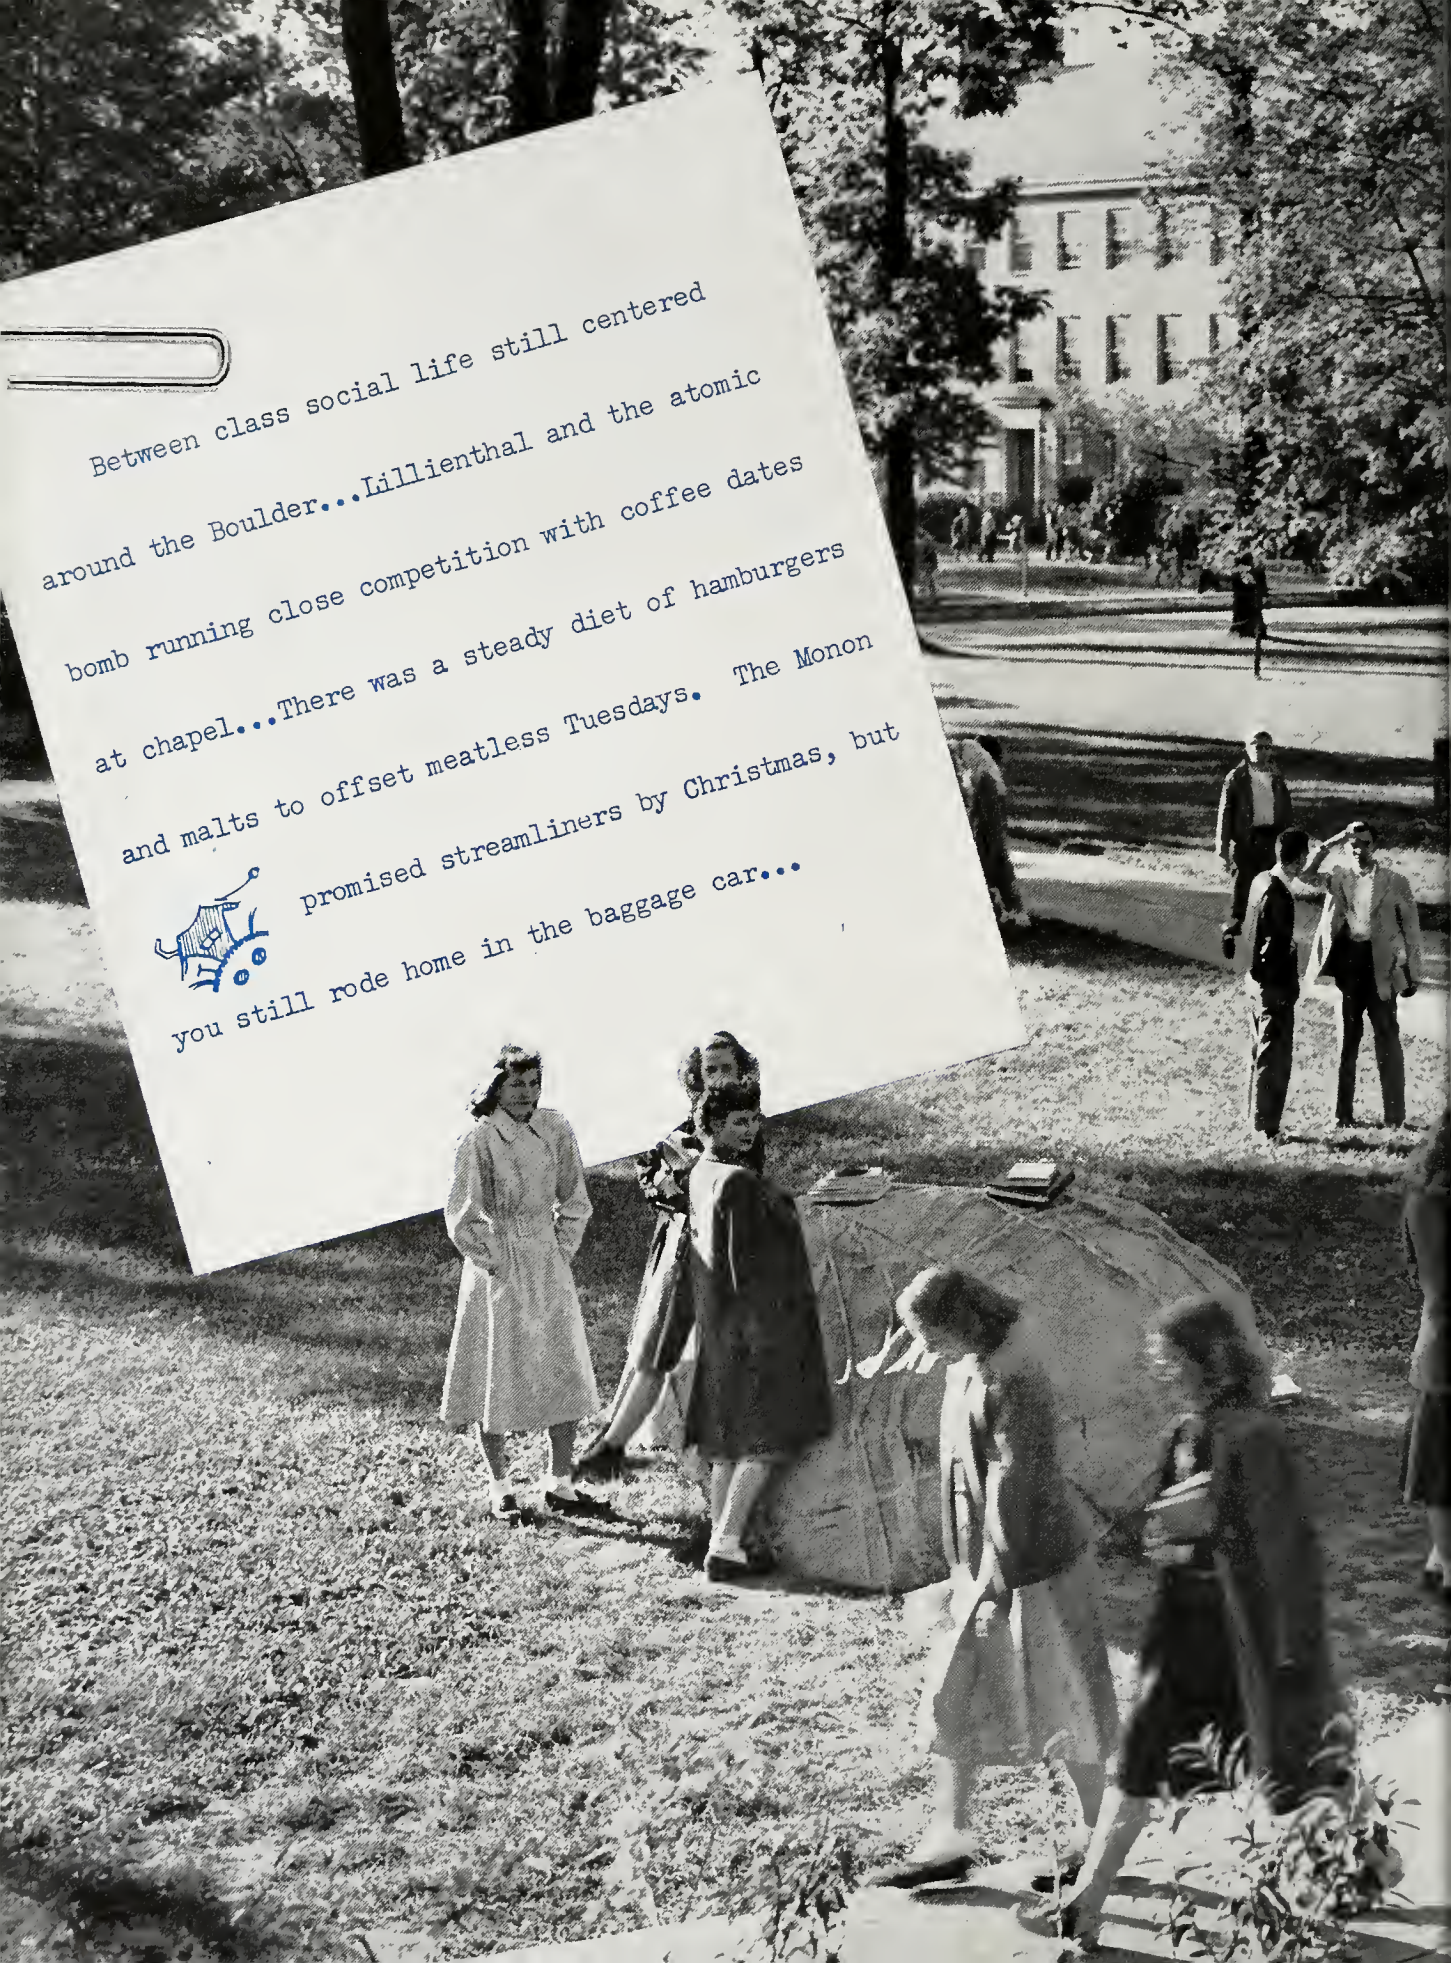
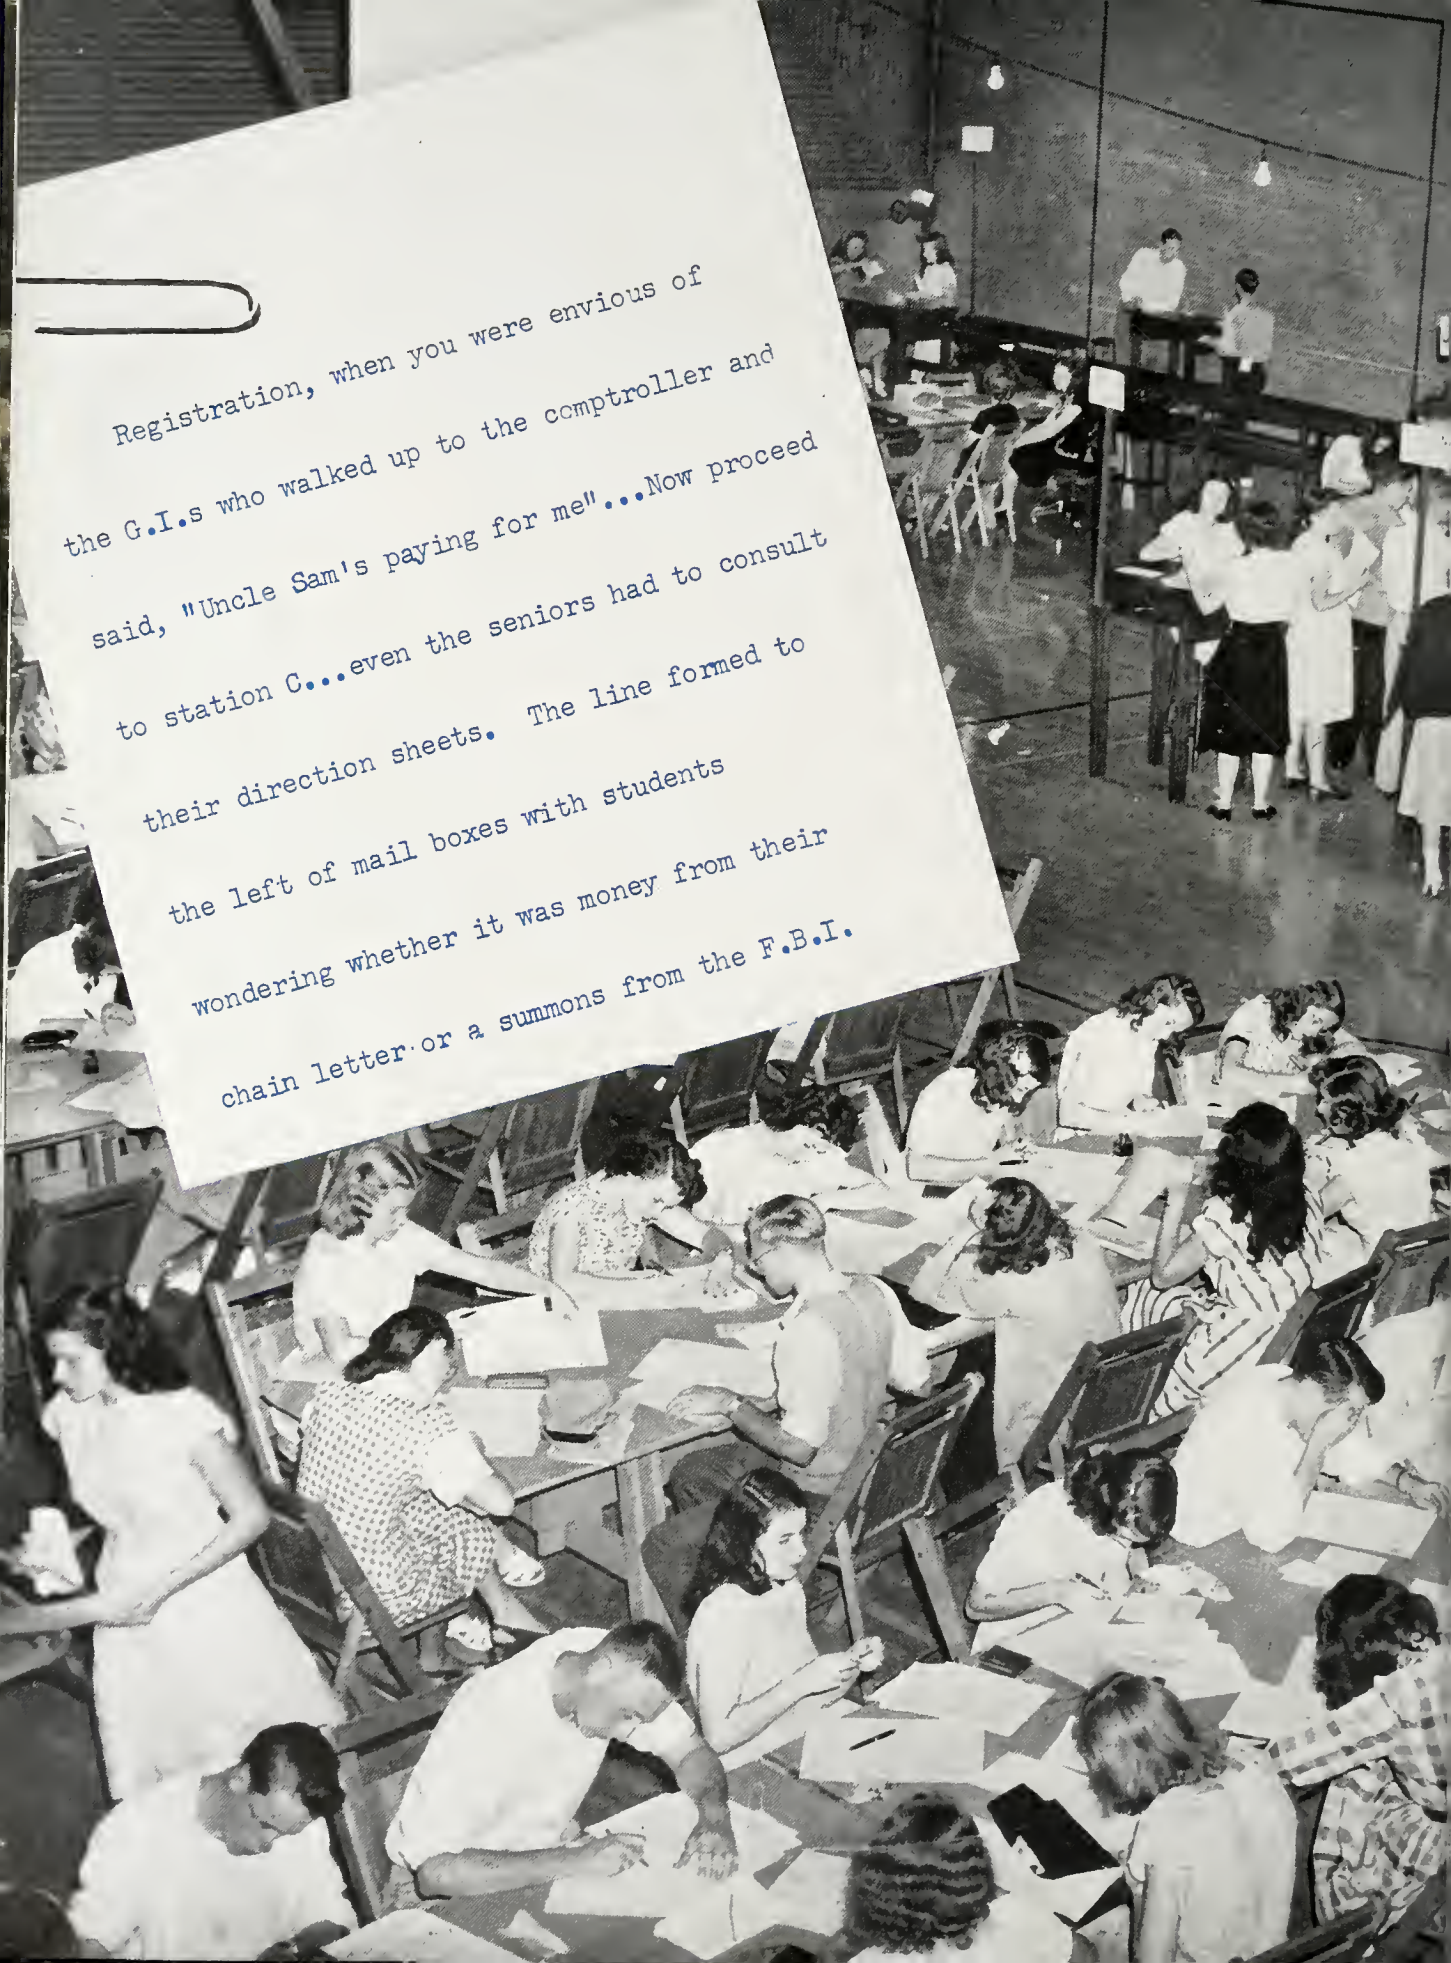
The year when all you had to do to get a cheap haircut was pull the rope and run like...



1945 Mirage



Between class social life still centered around the Boulder...Lillienthal and the atomic bomb running close competition with coffee dates at chapel...There was a steady diet of hamburgers and malts to offset meatless Tuesdays. The Monon promised streamliners by Christmas, but you still rode home in the baggage car...



Registration, when you were envious of the G.I.s who walked up to the comptroller and said, "Uncle Sam's paying for me"...Now proceed to station C...even the seniors had to consult their direction sheets. The line formed to the left of mail boxes with students wondering whether it was money from their chain letter or a summons from the F.B.I.

Rush, when you couldn't wear your pin and were afraid to speak to anyone 'cause you couldn't tell an active from a rushee...
Remember the torchlight parade you joined anticipating a rip-roaring pep rally and instead found yourself campaigning complete with political banner?

It seems that every year becomes harder, but 1947-48 takes the cake... How tired can you get? Study dates became an accepted thing, through necessity, not choice.
If you can survive the battle of DePauw classroom, "the cold, cruel world" should be a cinch...

World War I barracks still housed the art department; 'nuf said... Senior cords were the project of every art major. What was life on campus without Thibideaux, but the Sigma Nus just had to have the room...Afternoon labs turned out to be cigarettes on the front steps and coffee at the Barn...

PASTEUR INSTITUTE
PARIS

The BARN is STILL the student union...How long can we wait? DePauw was invaded by Butler

students armed with yellow enamel and sororities, fraternities and sidewalks were branded BU for the year...Did you know that 1

out of 8 dies of cancer? A neat way of ruining a good campaign slogan; and the sidewalks...

DePauw backed their teams and coaches with unswerving loyalty through defeat as well as victory; reviving an old and forgotten custom. You can't forget the first football game where you sat with undampened spirit in that typical Greencastle dew ...Bitter intramural battles where enthusiasm surpassed "Big Nine" pitch.

Serenades where cold winter winds ruffled pink pajamas under fur coats and high notes got stuck on icicles...

Beauty queens for dances were elected by politics but they were beautiful anyway...

The Saturday night invasion by the Wabash Cavemen ...Weekends, Friday seminars, and off campus treks were enthusiastically anticipated.

This was the year with "the new look" but the administration somehow escaped with just a few new wrinkles.

Administration

President Wildman

"To the Junior class, Wildman is what a can is to a dog—he makes it go." This was the comment in the 1912 Mirage beneath the picture of one Clyde Wildman, then already distinguished in several fields. As a senior he became president of YMCA and Phi Beta Kappa. In 1936 Wildman, Dr. Wildman this time, returned to DePauw; and during the eleven years of his leadership as president, he has exhibited unending interest in DePauw life.

Dr. Clyde Wildman is one of the finest exemplifications of the true DePauw spirit. Although the demands for Dr. Wildman as a guest speaker at schools throughout the nation are great, he finds time to be a frequent and popular speaker here at home in Wednesday chapel.

As a newly appointed Vice President of the University, Mr. W. H. Butterfield, is in charge of all financial promotion and public relations, working with a trustee committee and with the President of the University. A graduate in 1933 of the University of Nebraska, he holds an M.A. degree from the University of Oklahoma and has done graduate work in several schools in the states and at the University of Berlin, Germany.

Guiding De Pauw's Destiny

The 43 men composing the University Board of Trustees manage all the property, finances, and business of DePauw. Also charged with the responsibility of conferring honorary degrees, the organization is made up of 35 elective members, in addition to nine members who are appointed by the Indiana Conference of the Methodist Church.

With the Alumni association, the Board of Trustees has backed one of the most worthy and extensive campaigns in the history of DePauw—the Union Building Fund. This organization, through nation-wide cooperation among DePauw alumni and friends, has met with great success in this campaign.

Besides the duties already mentioned, this group chooses all DePauw professors and presidents. Since the Board of Trustees engages in so many activities, it is next to impossible to enumerate the services it has done.

Public Relations Quartet

Public relations is the job of our Deans in the University. Their successful work guarantees a smooth running, never faltering DePauw year.

Skillful management and an intrinsic understanding of the student body by Dr. G. B. Manhart has proved him more than capable of filling the job of Dean of the University.

Dean Louis H. Dirks, for many years the guiding hand of DePauw's male contingent, interprets their needs with speed and efficiency. With advising his specialty, Dean Dirks undertakes many problems with kind understanding.

Miss Leota C. Colpitts, Dean of Women, effectively handles the womens' side of the University. Taking an active interest and part in all the projects and organizations of the DePauw co-ed she has become a fast friend and advisor to DePauw women. Late hours, special permissions and social activities all fall into her category of advising.

De Pauw's Businessmen

Responsible for putting DePauw in the news are R. E. Crouch, Secretary of Alumni Affairs, and F. L. Bergmann, Director of Publicity. Mr. Crouch informs DePauw's former students of matters concerning their alma mater, chiefly by the circulation of the monthly magazine, THE ALUMNUS. As Comptroller of the University, Howell H. Brooks, Jr. heads the financial department of DePauw. Mr. Brooks is in charge of all purchasing operations for the dormitories, and the maintenance department. Miss Veneta J. Kunter, serving as the official University Registrar, supervises the collection and filing of each student's academic record along with many other activities of her office. As Secretary of Admissions, Willard E. Umbreit contacts people interested in attending DePauw and looks after the necessary admission papers for the newly enrolled students.

Ideas Plus Expression

East College resounds with, "No es muy facile, N'est-ce pas?" Some students of the romance languages find themselves just this confused. But there is a rare sense of personal accomplishment accompanying a reading or listening knowledge of foreign tongues.

Asbury houses DePauw's readers and writers. Whether aspiring to read mosterpieces of athers or create their own, the English Department provides training and inspiration.

Stage, paise, enthusiasm, eloquence, costumes, ham, hard-work, ability, leads and laurels spell Speech Hall, the home of future players and directors of the American theatre.

Though based upon solid Methodist foundations in the early days, DePauw's departments of Philosophy and Religion have became mediums for the exchange of the ideas of all systems of thought.

Wearing the Coveted Key

To wear the coveted key of Phi Beta Kappa is the highest honor bestowed upon DePauw students. The Indiana Alpha chapter of this national honorary elects its members in the second semester of their senior year on the basis of scholarship and character. Each March at the "Phi Bete" chapel, the new members are announced to the student body.

An honorary of potential male "Phi Betes" is Phi Eta Sigma, the freshman scholastic honorary. Having achieved a half A, half B, average, freshmen men find recognition in this organization.

Freshman women, too, are rewarded for their outstanding scholastic efforts. The required 2.5 average having been met, these girls find themselves pledges of Alpha Lambda Delta, national scholastic honorary. Traditionally the members serve as hostesses on President's Scholarship weekend and again at the president's tea in September.

Capped: Activity Queens

The highest honor a junior woman may attain is Mortar Board. For those who are "capped" at the May Day Breakfast, the silver and gold pledge ribbons, and later the black Mortar Board pin, are the symbol of leadership, character, scholarship, activities, and unselfish service. These gray-jacketed girls, during their senior year strive to serve the campus as a group. Mortar Board sold balloons for the Old Gold Day and Dad's Day football games, and held an auction at the YWCA Street Fair. The proceeds of these enterprises constitute a Mortar Board scholarship to be awarded some worthy student. In November DePauw was hostess for the State Mortar Board Conference, which includes Indiana, Purdue and DePauw Universities. With service an important phase of this organization, Mortar Board is always seen in a leading position in campus activities.

Tapped: Activity Kings

Each spring there is one chapel period for which Meharry Hall is packed with junior class members, including some who haven't been there since their freshman days. It is during this Recognition chapel that the retiring senior members of Gold Key honorary fraternity "tap" the junior men outstanding in scholarship, activities, and campus leadership.

Originally a part of the national Blue Key organization, Gold Key has been the number one goal for junior men since its introduction at DePauw in 1939. In view of its member's enviable records the symbolic cane of Gold Key could well be a swagger stick instead of its present variety of grandpa's hickory arthritis support.

Gold Key meets semimonthly and appears as a body at the Old Gold Day football game.

Politics — Campus Level

Political campaigns, rallys and elections have become traditions at DePauw. Studies are neglected in favor of torchlight parades. Banners appear and are guarded by fraternity freshmen against the vandalism of the opposing party; the crosswalks are decorated with party slogans and shouts of "Vote Union" are answered by a louder "University."

Then the student body goes to the polls and casts its vote, electing a president, five seniors, five juniors, three sophomores and three freshmen to represent the students as the Student Governing Board.

At the monthly meetings the Student Governing Board gives its attention to any matters pertaining to the student body.

From the Student Governing Board also come the student representatives on the Student-Faculty Council. This group discusses and votes on the resolutions passed by the Student Governing Board. DePauw is proud of its democratic government of the students in cooperation with the faculty.

Two Phases of Journalism

Green and purple ribbons signifying the pledges of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalistic honorary, are proudly worn by junior and senior women considered outstanding in journalism after the annual pledging on Old Gold Day at the Boulder. Theta Sig projects include publishing the Dad's Day edition of The DePauw and the May Day edition announcing their new officers and new Mortar Board members.

Alpha Delta Sigma and Sigma Delta Chi, national men's honoraries, continued a long-standing feud this year with their annual football game. Alpha Delta Sigma, composed of members of business staffs of the publications, is an advertising honorary. Publishing the Founder's Day paper and sponsoring Showdown are activities of Sigma Delta Chi. Members of this journalistic honorary, founded at DePauw and now a national fraternity, are men holding responsible positions on the editorial staffs of the publications.

Publications Board

With a gentle but firm hand, the Publications Board oversees the administrative and financial side of the three student publications. Working with the editors and business managers, it scrutinizes and decides upon proposed expenditures, as well as keeping an account of how much money flows through their hands. Also included in the board's activities is the interviewing and selection of aspiring young journalists to fill the main posts on the DePauw, Boulder, and Mirage. This year, something new has been added; the board is supervising a photo service which serves DePauw's publishing world.

The six student members are picked by the student governing baard, with three juniors appointed each year for a two year term. Selected to represent the student body, they need not have had any previous journalistic experience. Also six in number, the faculty representatives are chosen by the faculty itself and hold their positions for three years. Each member is given a specific job and works on ane ar more of the five committees; the three committees for the publications praper, the finance committee and the committee on elections, each headed by a faculty member.

Mirror of Campus Life — The Mirage

The 1948 Mirage is a mirror in which all phases of DePouw life are reflected. This yearbook is not an enterprise, it is a co-operative production, the result of consideroble work by mony people. Chiefly responsible for the whole affair was Jack Bundy, officially known as the editor. His round of activities started immediately after he took office about March 15, 1947. He had charge of the spring sports, made plons for this year's annual, and laid out the dummy. He also planned the cover design, made the necessary arrangements with the printer, ond arronged for the holding of the annual Mirage beauty contest. At present there are two senior associate editors, Barbara Page and Emmy Lou Kerr, who worked with him to carry out his ideas and provide new suggestions to guide the stoff of co-workers.

In addition, there are five assistant editors, who are juniors. Chinx Grier scheduled the pictures, and Bill Mohr mounted them. Phyl Chapman handled the identification, which included the senior activities, the names of other students, and the index to the book. Char Quinn and Ann Weingortner wrote the copy and handled all rewrites.

The 1948 Mirage

The flash of a camera, the click of typewriters, a buzzing telephone—such is the atmosphere in which the 1948 Mirage has come to light.

Watching all campus affairs from the west end of the Publications Building, the editors condensed the news and garnered something of the spirit of the Old Gold. With a peaceful army of assistants, the editorial staff gathered in the news and made it readable and scheduled, mounted, and identified the pictures taken by the photography staff. Serving the Mirage along with the "Boulder" and "DePauw", the Publications Photographic Service, headed by Jim Cobb, has proved an efficient addition to the realm of DePauw publications. And now you have it—the 1948 Mirage.

Slaves to Sales and Subscriptions

Should the matter arise in the course of publication shop talk, the business staff of the Mirage is willing to wager that it has a larger number of concentric bags beneath its sleepless eyes than has the editorial staff of this noble volume. Existing on a diet of aspirin and coffee, the business manager heads this unrecognized department. She must keep all the business records and checks all the sales money. Aiding the business manager are four ever-slaving assistants; a sales manager, the prime mover of the Mirage sales campaign, who in turn guides the many who wish to sell subscriptions with the hope that they, too, may someday acquire some of the headaches of the business staff; an advertising manager fills those back pages with profitable pictures and sayings and sees that advertising bills are paid on time; a photographic editor handles general photo expenses and schedules pictures; and an office manager arranges the files of sales and advertising and takes charge of the Mirage beauty queen contest.

But in May when the book has gone to press and the editors' feet rest on desk tops, the business managers may still be found frantically poring over late bills.

Shades of Horace Greeley

On-the-spot reporting, hurrying to meet deadlines, rewriting, wrestling with headlines, proof-reading,—all this and more makes work on the DePauw good basic training for DePauwites with an interest in newspaper work. And, as a result of all this flurry, the rest of the university receives a running account of happenings on campus—affaires d' amour, sports, the social whirl, and the cultural side of college life.

Complete unbiased presentation of "all the news that's fit to print" would very well sum up the aim of the DePauw this year. In line with this policy, the staff was enlarged, and plans were laid for more six-page papers by the first of the year.

A staff of efficient assistants and editors elected each semester plus an enthusiastic editorial staff contributed greatly to the success of this publication.

Bolder Humor

The Boulder acquired the "new look" as it went into its ninth year of publication at DePauw. The inclusion of many glamour poses of the queens of the campus gave the Boulder a more personal touch. The first issue with a back-to-college theme came out early in October, followed by the freshman edition in November featuring the pictures of all new women—a handy reference for unattached males throughout the year. Then there were the regular numbers with their fiction, poetry, features, and that never-to-be-forgotten humor section.

Boulder's Business Booms

One of the most outstanding of the new features was one article in each issue written by a prominent alum, creating one more tie between the graduate and his alma mater. The editors decided that one entire issue should be devoted to exchange material from other college puclications, adding the seventh issue for the 1947-48 year. And of course the year would not be complete without the special Christmas, Tusitala, and the Senior numbers, in addition to the Sigma Delta Chi and the spring issues. Almost every afternoon the Boulder office was a scene of activity as the editors and their staffs worked to "meet that deadline."

The business staff of the Boulder this year used numerous posters, Barn window displays, letters to alumni, and personal contacts to promote sales. The soliciting of advertisements from Greencastle merchants constituted another important phase of their work. Because of the efficiency of the editors and their many assistants, the campus-wide publicity and purchase of the Boulder was greatly increased.

MR. H. BERG, Director

Symphony in De Pauw Minor

Variety was once again the keynote of the orchestra's attainments, with popular, classical, and contemporary compositions all sharing the orchestra's spotlight of melody. And whether it was Beethoven's "Leonore Overture" or Cole Porter's "In the Still of the Night," Conductor Berg's musicians proceeded to master it in their usual commendable manner. Typical high points in the evening appearances were Dr. Van Denman Thompson's organ solos, Gene Pennington's conducting of his own symphony and the popular children's concerts. Also on the orchestra's agenda were chapel programs, radio broadcasts and a three day concert tour in the spring.

Aside from their musical accomplishments, the members publish a two-page paper called The Score, which according to Mr. Berg, comes out "whenever the spirit moves the staff."

The accent this year was upon versatility. The DePauw University Symphony Orchestra demonstrated this statement well, in a musical manner, to the audiences which filled Meharry Hall for their concerts of the 1947-48 season.

Whether you enjoy the modern music of contemporary composers or the classics of such well-known musicians as Handel, Beethoven, and Wagner, you would have found the programs enjoyoble as they were all designed and planned to please both tastes.

The sixty-five piece organization was inspiringly directed again this year by Professor Herman Berg, himself a concert violinist of note. Composed of many veterans of previous DePauw orchestra years and also having a number of talented freshmen among them, the orchestra presented its first concert the end of October. Presenting several well-known classics, a highlight of the program was their interpretation of Moussorgsky's Night On a Bald Mountain. In December the orchestra added to the already growing Christmas apirit by playing the Overture to the Messiah and Pastoral Symphony from the Messiah at their second concert of the school year. These two selections are the only purely orchestral parts of this beloved work of Handel's which he wrote in twenty-three days. When first produced in 1742, the Messiah was received with fervor. Since then there has been no dearth of performances. A Christmas season hardly seems complete without hearing this beloved Christmas music.

Later in the spring the orchestra presented two more concerts which were received in the same spirit of enthusiasm.

The group, bound together by a common interest, also finds time for fun among themselves and as one of their spare minute activities,the members publish The Score, a paper especially edited by and for the orchestra, its members and enthusiasts.

Banded Together in Harmony

Once again, in his third year as band director, Mr. Inglis has offered convincing proof that he really knows his music. In the fall, he and his assistant, Dan Hanna, molded a seventy-piece marching band which was among the best in the state. The band carried the ball superbly on the gridiron, with its precision maneuvering and pleasing variety of melody. Then during the winter and spring, it aptly demonstrated its harmonious ways on the concert stage, not only here but in numerous other cities as well. Emphasis was upon contemporary compositions written especially for band rather than transcriptions of orchestra selections. Also, alternating at the basketball games, were the two varsity bands, adding spirit and pep to the excitement of "Hoosier Madness."

With the coming of Old Man Winter, the band members donned tuxes and formals in the place of their black and gold uniforms, and established Meharry Hall as their headquarters. Opening the concert season just before Christmas vacation, the band gave an evening program in Meharry on December 16. Included were band originals by Darius Milhaud, Paul Creston, and Victor Gallois. Conductor Inglis modified the system of arranging the better musicians in the first and second chairs, by placing many of them in other chair positions in order to secure more balanced playing.

After appearing in chapel early in January, the band took to the air on February 14 with a broadcast over WIRE, which featured Paul Whear's own "Blackstock Stadium March." However, these were by no means all of the band's winter activities; for every home basketball tilt saw one of the varsity bands on hand to enliven the occasion.

On the afternoon of Palm Sunday in March, the band presented its second formal concert, playing such selections as the Finale from Shostakovich's Fifth Symphony, the Dances from Khatchaturian's "Gayne," and the First Movement from Deems Taylor's "Through the Looking Glass Suite," which was adapted for the band by Dan Hanna. Here again the works of contemporary artists were predominant.

Topping the schedule in the spring was the annual tour. During the last week of April, the band "hit the road" for points in Indiana and elsewhere, presenting concerts at high schools in various cities. Then, in the month of May, came a series of popular outdoor appearances on campus—when the monsoon season permitted; and with the curtain coming down on another school year, the band closed its season with music at the commencement ceremonies.

Sharps and Flats Their Keynote

"The Choir not only had good voices, but it could sing; and it sang superbly." Thus did the Indianapolis News pay tribute to the DePauw University Choir, a choral organization that has been singing at DePauw and throughout the Middlewest for thirty-seven years. The Choir, when it was founded in 1911 by Dr. Robert G. McCutchan, then Dean of the Music School, had sixteen members. Since then it has grown to a group of almost fifty voices and in spite of the yearly personnel changes, its high standards remain unchanged. Anyone who attended the Wednesday worship chapel and heard the Choir sing the moving "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God" or "Nunc Dimittis" will agree—it can sing, and it does so, superbly.

Masters of Music

DR. VAN DENAM THOMPSON

Synonomous with music on the DePauw campus is the nome of Van Denman Thompson, Dean of the School of Music. A well-known organist, Dr. Thompson is often guest artist at chapel programs or Sunday Vespers.

Along with its neat parading form and lively marches, the marching band exhibited some special performances which were particularly outstanding. On Old Gold Day the band formed a stairway with the twirlers prancing up and down the steps to the strains of Stairway to the Stars; and next, for Dad's Day, fashioned a big heart to illustrate its selection My Heart Belongs to Daddy. Then, at the Monon Bell struggle, was the moving locomotive with music to match, Atchison, Topeka, and the Santa Fe.

Men and Women of Note

Junior and senior women in music school ranking in the upper two-thirds of their class compose the Zeta chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, national musical honorary. In the spring the group sponsored the DePauw appearance of Dorothy Munger, Indianapolis pianist.

Men students active in campus musical projects are organized as the Mu Phi's brother fraterniy, Phi Mu Alpha. The two organizations hold a joint picnic annually. Phi Mu Alpha unites men who hold music as their common interest. Members are selected, in addition to their musical activeness, on a scholastic basis.

Outstanding organ students on campus form the local chapter of the American Guild of Organists. This national honorary group has the joint purpose of acquointing its members with organ fundamentals and stimulating their appreciation of organ music.

All the World's a Stage

The smell of grease paint, the building of sets, the hours of DePauw's Little Theater. The plays produced are under the direction of Dr. Herold T. Ross, and the cast is composed of Duzer Du, the dramatic honorary fraternity. The first theatrical production of the year was Double Door, a melodrama, followed by a comedy, The Parlor Story, the operetta, Martha, and Twelfth Night a specialty for Mother's Week-end. Thus the amateur dramatists of DePauw earn valuable professional experience.

Duzer Du, campus dramatic club, is made up of those students selected each year for their dramatic ability. These neophites are polished for the Little Theatre productions by the student and faculty directors of this group.

The End of The Line — Debate

Debate-in almost any classroom, any house, or dorm on the DePauw campus this brain-teasing form of activity takes place. Wherever students gather there is bound to be debate of some sort, whether the subject is the last dance or a topic of current interest. But these students who find a treat deal of enjoyment in debate have their chance in the DePauw University Speech Department.

The debate team meets other schools throughout the year and has a chance to match wits through stimulating debates on the vital problems of today.

Every year a few outstanding students in speech work are chosen for membership in Delta Sigma Rho, the national honorary for achievement in speech work. Membership in Delta Sigma Rho is limited only to those students who have attained the greatest achievement in debate and other forms of public speaking. The group is under the very capable leadership of Dr. Ross. Its aim is to maintain interest in speech work and to improve public speaking.

Since speech is the most effective and necessary means of communication, its improvement is of vital interest to the Speech Department. Just ask anyone enrolled in the Speech Department if everything offered isn't tops—Little Theater, public speaking, and debate. In the back of the minds of most of the students who are in speech work is the one goal—Delta Sigma Rho.

DELTA SIGMA RHO

With a copable group of hold-overs from last year, a sizeable crop of alert freshmen and a skilled coach, De Pauw's debate team possessed all the needed elements for a successful season. During several weeks the debaters built up their cases for and against world government. Then, from January to April, the arguments flew thick and fast with the team participating in tournaments at Illinois Normal, Purdue, Indiana State Teacher's College, and Georgetown College in Kentucky, and for the first time in recent years, serving as host for a tournament here.

Typical evidence of the team's prowess was its winning of second place honors in the large Illinois Normal tournament. Both freshman and varsity debate groups enjoy verbal bouts with other Indiana schools as well as with fellow DePauwites. An integral part of the Speech Department, the debate team often attracts those who have already received recognition in other fields of speech, such as the closely related Public Speaking group. Although, in past years a group little recognized on the DePauw campus, the debate team, like the Speech Department, itself, has grown in size, popularity and efficiency.

On the Air

"This is DePauw on the air from the campus at Greencastle, Indiana, Broadcasting over station WIRE." This familiar phrase opens the weekly broadcasts produced and directed by the Radio Guild. The Guild presents varying programs, including dramatic performances, variety shows, musical interludes, special events series, student-professor quiz programs, and Sunday morning religious broadcasts. Entirely student managed by an organization consisting of script, publicity, technical, production, and music staffs, these broadcasts are attended by students and faculty and are considered a point of interest for weekend guests.

All scripts are written by students; the music staff provides the theme and background music; and the technical staff not only amplifies that action and sends it out on the air by remote control to WIRE in Indianapolis, but provides all the sound effects in the well-equipped studio on the top floor of Harrison Hall.

Students who are interested in any phase of radio work audition for membership in the Guild early in the year and are selected solely on the basis of ability and interest.

We're Wired for Sound

The Guild then affords these members opportunities to gain practical experience in the field of radio. This year emphasis was placed on giving more specialized training and experience to each member in his particular field; the patter of hoofs being more realistic, and the "bloop-bleep" of the dripping faucet more perfectly timed. Thus by working with professional radio, the Radio Guild gains valuable experience.

After two successful years on campus, Epsilon Pi Alpha, the radio honorary, has firmly imbedded itself in DePauw. Although just a small group, the organization has become very active. Membership in this honorary is open to outstanding students in radio work, and is achieved on the point basis. All the members belong to Radio Guild where they have worked themselves up to executive positions. The objects and aims of Epsilon Pi Alpha are furthering the interests and activities of DePauw students in radio work. In February they presented an authentic radio broadcast for a women's club in a small Indiana town as a part of their year's activity.

Through Kappa Pi, art students are able to pursue their interest in art outside of the classroom. The Alpha Iota chapter, guided by Mr. A. R. Winsey, is not only the largest in the country, but also one of the most active. Among the annual Kappa Pi-sponsored events are the visit to Chicago for the art classes, art exhibits and aucitons, and the Kappa Pi Costume Ball. To be eligible for membership a student must have a "B" average in art with a major or minor in that field, and his work must be approved by a jury of Kappa Pi members.

The Camera Club at DePauw is an organization for those interested in developing proficiency in photography. This year the club was divided for instructive purposes into two groups, according to previous experience. At their weekly meetings the shutter-bugs were instructed in the finer points of taking, developing, and enlarging pictures by experts in the field. Besides these informative meetings the club's other activities included photograph contests and exhibits, and applying their photographic knowledge in the club's own darkroom.

A more thorough understanding of the German language, culture, and political life is the purpose of DePauw's German Club. These objectives are attained at monthly meetings held under the supervision of Drs Baerg and Grueninger of the DePauw German Department. This organization is a member of the American Federation of German Clubs.

Chapel — Lecture or Leisure

Meharry Hall filled to overflowing, coffee at the Duck, crowds milling around the Boulder and dates on the spacious lawn of East College are all a part of DePauw Chapel. This year the chapel period was lengthened to an hour; chapel being held every Wednesday at Gobin Memorial Church, while Friday's chapel was devoted either to an outside speaker or to music provided by our own music school. No matter how they spend their chapel periods, students all agree that they are one of the most worthwhile and pleasant of DePauw traditions.

For a Better Tomorrow

The Religious Education Club composed of those interested in the field of religion, has as its chief aim the provision of study and investigotion enabling the individual to take an active part in his own church.

A DePauw organization still in its infancy is the Newman club, founded on campus last year. It is one chapter of a national group of Catholic college students united to promote the ideos and aims of catholicism. Their meetings, featuring speakers and discussion periods, are open to students of any religion.

Men studying o pre-theological course have an opportunity to discuss their work in the Oxford Fellowship. Many of the meetings are spent analyzing the problems and experiences of those members already preaching in surrounding communities.

Through the Methodist Student Movement DePauw men and women have an opportunity to express their churchmonship in activities in the church and on the campus. Members moy develop leadership skills in the fields of music, drama, recreation, deputation work, or through the many worship services which are held. Nearly seven hundred and fifty students belong to this organizotion whose work is denominational but not sectarian.

They're Pledged to Service

To stimulate interest and participation in the ever-growing field of social work is the purpose of the sociology department, the club engages guest speakers, takes field trips, and conducts round table discussions in order to better understand the inequalities and friction in man's social order. As indicated by its name, Toynbee was named after the noted British social worker, Alfred Toynbee. Now composed of sociology majors, it was first founded here in 1910.

Delta Phi Eta, national honorary scouting fraternity, is composed of ex-Girl Scouts and any other girls who are interested in service work in college. Their activities include various campus and community enterprises. Helping in the Greencastle Girl Scout troops as assistant troop leaders is an important phase of their work. Every spring, they join with Alpha Phi Omega in organizing a "Keep Off the Grass" campaign.

The work of Alpha Phi Omega, an honorary for former Boy Scouts, is much the same as that of Delta Phi Eta, serving the university and the community. In the fall the organization handled the Greencastle Community Chest drive and then later the Red Cross drive. Continuing their scouting work, the members serve as assistant scout masters in the Greencastle area. Not to be forgotten either is the yearly bridge tournament, which is under the direction of Alpha Phi Omega. A national college organization, it was created in 1925 at Lafayette College.

Mastering the Mind and the Classics

Fifty-six years ago Sodalitas Latina was founded for those students interested in studying the language of the Romans. Similarly, Epsilon Epsilon was established for students of Greek. Now, these two groups have united to form the Classics Club, whose purpose is the promotion of interest in the fields of classic language, art, and culture. At the monthly meetings the members hear lectures by their sponsors, Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Stevens, and discuss such topics as Greek coins and plays.

The Philosophy Club provides an outlet for those who enjoy airing their views on current philosophical topics. The members of this club conduct the monthly meetings, under the sponsorship of Dr. Norris and Dr. Hildebrand, in an informal and spontaneous fashion.

The Shakespeare Club gives students an opportunity to learn more about the works of Shakespeare than class time will permit. The membership is not limited to class. Each of the members is responsible for one program during the year, at which time they dramatize and discuss the plays of Shakespeare. Emphasis this year was placed upon the study of the Elizabethan theater. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Taylor, the Shakespeare Club brought to DePauw the movie, Macbeth, which was shown for all students in March. The exchange of gifts signifying quotations from Shakespeare at the Christmas party highlighted the year's activities.

Found: Sideline to a Major

The Zoology Club, open for membership to all zoology majors, provides a medium through which the student may enjoy further contact with his field and an association with those having this common interest. Generally, for the monthly meetings, speakers from other schools are engaged to give timely lectures on subjects of zoological nature. Such activities as field trip picnics, that combine fun with investigation, also comprise a vital part of the yearly program.

Men pre-medical majors who maintain high scholastic standing are eligible to become members of Delta Omicron Chi, pre-med honorary. The organization was established as a substitute for the non-existent departmental home of pre-medical students, in order that they might be united. Throughout the year interest in medical subjects is stimulated by lectures and educational trips to various medical centers. In addition, this fraternal group does not neglect the necessity of enjoying itself socially; and therefore, both pleasure and information are gained through membership in DOX.

Juniors and seniors who have declared themsleves to be chemistry majors are entitled to membership in the Chemistry Club. Research papers, prepared by various members of the organization, are often given before the group to give its members additional information. For the other meetings, departmental heads from other universities ore invited to give chemical lectures before an open meeting of the Chemistry Club and of all others interested in attending.

Plants, Pans and Politics

"A woman's place is in the home" might well be the motto of the home economics majors, who, by forming a departmental club have rendered many valuable services such as this year's overseas clothing collection. The Home Economics Club, founded at DePauw in 1919, brings outstanding women in the home economics field to the meetings to explain the various vocational opportunities as well as the private application of home econimics.

Forming Pi Sigma Alpha, the political science honorary, are poly-sci majors, future cogs in the wheels of the complicated American political system. Noted speakers in such related fields as law, public service, and diplomacy usually address the group and lead informal discussions on phases of their field at the clubs monthly meetings. In its second post-war year, Pi Sigma Alpha increased in membership and enthusiasm.

Mixing fun and knowledge is the main goal of the DePauw Botany Club. Leaving field trips for lab periods, Harrison Hall was the scene of a rainy day picnic this fall where food, not botanical science, was the evenings topic. The tradition of an annual exchange dinner followed by a lecture and discussion period between the DePauw club and Indiana's Botany Club also continued this year.

The Feminine Side of Service

Every Thursday afternoon at DePauw is filled with the activities of the Young Women's Christian Association. General meetings featuring noted speakers are held the first Thursday of each month, while specific committee meetings fill the remaining weeks. Guiding the extensive program of the Y.W.C.A. is an efficient cabinet composed of the officers and committee chairmen. As to the committees, Freshman Commission is designed exclusively to help freshmen become better acquainted. Membership in Sophomore Council is achieved by appointment and its activities include guidance and the promotion of interest in Y.W.C.A. All women who have a desire to draw or paint should feel at home in the Paste and Palette Committee; meanwhile, prospective actresses or stage hands should enjoy the Footlights Club. First-hand experience in practical business administration is offered by the Money Mokers. The World Friendship and Current Affairs groups prepare DePauw women to be more intelligent citizens of the world. Through the Girl Reserves, Baby Sitters, Children's Social Service, Adult Social Service, and Worship Workshop, YW members devote their time and effort to help enrich the lives of others. In the midst of all these activities Y.W.C.A. annuolly sponsors the Street Fair, the profits this year being donated to W.S.S.F. The YW May Day Breakfast is another gay time of the yeor for that is when "Mortar Board goes capping." Thonksgiving and Christmas services, arranged by YW are as traditionally DePauw as the Boulder.

Future Authors

In honor of Robert Louis Stevenson, who was known to the Samoan natives as Tusitala, "teller of tales," DePauw's organization of creative writers has taken for itself this name. Tusitala is not a departmental club; members are chosen from those students who submit original manuscripts of two different types. Selected on the basis of the merit of their contributions, members are initiated with a banquet in the spring. Spurning formality, this creative writing club, probably the most Bohemian of all the honorary groups on campus, has only one officer, a chairman. The typical Tusitala year is completed by a trek to see a current play in Indianapolis.

Susie Sets the Pace

The Association of Women Students is the largest and one of the most important of all the women's organizations on the DePauw campus. Every DePauw coed automatically becomes a member of AWS when she reaches the campus. This organization makes all women's rules, governs women's activities, and plans many social events throughout the year.

AWS is divided into two groups, the council and the board, which handle the various functions. The AWS council, composed of freshmen and sophomores, serves as a representative of the students. One council members is chosen from each sorority and dormitory on campus. The AWS board is composed of juniors and seniors chosen on the basis of service to the organization in previous years. Each of these board members is chairman of one of the many committees which carry on the actual work of the organization.

Throughout the year AWS sponsors various campus events and activities. The big sister program, a system where by every freshman has an upperclass woman to help her with any problem which may arise, was the first project of the year. The big sister—little sister picnic initiated this program, followed by several other parties throughout the year. The AWS board had charge of freshmen orientation in which they, in a series of lectures, explained all phases of DePauw life. AWS also sponsored the vocational guidance program, for which they secured notable speakers in the various fields of occupational interest. The Barn, our substitute for a Student Union Building, was another important project. The money collected from tickets was contributed to the Student Union Building Fund. The Monon Review is also annually sponsored by AWS. This musical production, given in the spring, was written, directed, and produced entirely by members of the student body. The highlight of the AWS year, the unique dance to to which the men are invited and escorted by their dates, was the annual Golddigger's Ball.

Accent on Form and Grace

To meet demands for opportunities to specialize in several of the fields of sports, W.R.A. sponsors three outstanding athletic honoraries for DePauw women.

The greater part of the work of Orchesis, modern dance honorary, is interpretive—the girls creating all their own dances. Modern dance aspirants are pledged on the basis of the grace and rhythm exhibited during the semester try-outs, the active members and their faculty sponsor, Mrs. Mary Calloway, serving as judges. At their weekly meetings individual and group interpretations of mood help mold a harmonic atmosphere of grace and beauty. An original chapel program is presented by Orchesis members and May Day also presents an opportune time for a display of interpretive dance.

Naiad brings to DePauw mermaids the opportunity to achieve perfection in water ballet and acrobatics. Form and endurance are stressed in the year's work of this talented group. Swimming a number of lengths and showing ability in aquatic skill and grace are requirements for membership in Naiad. Their main project is an aquacade given for the entertainment of mothers on May Day and on several W.R.A. sportsnights. Graceful formations and flowless movements constitute the performances of DePauw's waternymphs, the members of Naiad.

Speed Swimming Club is the newest of the athletic honoraries for DePauw women. As its name implies, this organization is to develop and train speed swimmers. The main event of the year for this club is their entrance in the National Telegraphic Swimming meet where they compete with swimmers from schools throughout the nation.

This year Naiad and the Speed Swimming Club participated for the first time in an all-Indiana women's collegiate swimming meet held annually at Purdue University.

Leaders of Girls Intramurals

The backbone of the Women's Recreational Association's activities are the major and minor sports, including hockey, basketball, volleyball, and softball, that run from September to June in both intra-mural and intra-class tournaments. The intra-murals furnish an opportunity for DePauw women to meet on a basis of friendly competition thus furthering friendships and creating intra-house good-will. Each sport is run-off in the form of a tournament; the houses being divided into leagues and the league winners matched for the championship. Spirit runs high at these events with attendance rivaling that of the fraternity intra-mural battles.

In addition, WRA presents such special features as the annual McCormick's Creek week-end, and enlisting the aid of the "D" Association, the Friday sports nights, where dates and stags alike enjoy the sports facilities of Bowman. Pool plunges, ping-pong, volleyball, bowling and dancing are all on the evenings agenda. In the spring WRA, AWS, and YW combine to present entertainment for the Mother's Day week-end. Although WRA is associated with DePauw women, it is also a national organization, and, as such, is an integral part of the national sports program for all American women.

Independent Women's Association

Fulfilling a need for independent unity, Independent Women's Association began its first year to campus, striving to give every girl a well rounded college life. This group, organized with well-defined goals for promotion of scholarship and participation in campus activities, tended to create bonds of friendship and cooperation never before existant among independent women at DePauw.

IWA was created in the Spring of 1947, when after two years of research and planning, the independent women of DePauw were granted a charter to organize. One of its first actions as a group this fall was to initiate a plan to guide and assist independent freshmen women in gaining a secure foothold in college. Personal contacts and informal parties originated from the feeling that a spirit of friendliness between freshmen and upperclass independent women was essential.

But faced as they were with the challenge of a new undertaking, IWA girls still found time for fun. Bumroom parties, informal date affairs, Christman carolling lightened long winter hours. Spring brought picnic gaiety and the flurry of plans for IWA's spring formal.

As IWA's first year was completed, the organization anticipated greater fulfillment of independent needs at the University.

Tiger Fans Inspire Team

The triumphant hilarity of a game well played—a Tiger victory . . . the gnawing disappointment of a defeat . . . vividly pictured upon the faces of the crowd during the game, when it's hard to intern wrath against the opponents and officials, and afterwards, when what "should" have been done is debated and discussed in every campus "coke joint".

The pride in hearing the Sigma Chi bell announce DePauw the victor . . . the glow upon the faces of the "D" men . . . all outward indications of an innate satisfaction in a victory for our side.

Athletics at De Pauw — 1947-'48

Brisk fall afternoons under a gray sky at Blackstock-Football's in the air . . . pre-game pep rallies, bonfires and yell sessions . . . a new coach and a gallant team . . . in the shadows of our goal posts . . . coffin corner and smearing 'em for a loss . . . fourth down and one to go . . . fight . . . Old Gold Day and crowning the queen, house decorations and the homecoming dance . . . cross-country meets between the halves, "red-hots and cokes" . . . squeezing two couples under one rain coat—grin and bear it . . . the marching band and the old school songs.

Hoosier hysteria fills the air and we fight for a seat in Bowman . . . the tip-off and a fast break . . . foul shots and jump balls . . . time-out and the cheer leaders take the floor . . . blind refs and tied scores, a long one when it counted most . . . tricky passes and beautiful fakes . . . the final gun.

The big splash in our little pool—DePauw natars giving their all . . . the starting gum—dashes and medleys . . . fancy diving—gainers and jack knifes . . . back-stroke free style.

It's spring—the crack of the bat and a line drive . . . fielder's choice and double plays . . . a home run ar a long foul? . . . "three and two" and the bases are loaded . . . top of the tenth and silent prayers . . . the thinly clads and the starting gun . . . shot put and javalins, broad jumps and pole vaults . . . the grueling mile . . . the 100 yard dash—10 seconds of suspense . . . The golf team trying for under par . . . "Fore" and 250 yard drives . . . hole in one and 20 foot puts . . .The whack of tennis balls in back of Bowman . . . doubles teams rushing to the net . . . aces and double faults, love game and match point.

Seasons come and seasons go, we rise to the heights of victory and fall to the depths of defeat but the Old Gold spirit continues year after year.

Top place among Tiger enthusiasts must go to the yelling, jumping, cheerleading quartet which leads the DePauw rooters at all athletic contests both at Blackstock and within Bowman. Leading pep rallies chants and cheers at pre-game yell sessions, keeping up the spectator spirit when it looks as though all's lost, these are their tasks. As an organized functioning group tryouts are held in the fall and new yell leaders are chosen by the "D" association and the veteran leaders.

Sports Keep Campus Humming

Throughout the football season the campus buzzed with activity—preparations for homecoming and Dad's Day, as much traditions as the Owl or the Boulder.

For weeks early in the fall the Phi Psi's sun deck was the scene of carefully shrouded activity. The result—a monstrous papier-mache tiger head peering with glowing green eyes over the roof of the rockpile; the prize—first place for best in Old Gold decorations, men's division. The women's cup went to the Alpha Chis whose winning "Let's scrub 'em" theme was carried out even to actual soap bubbles floating realistically about.

Then on October 25, we put out the welcome mat for the DePauw dads, planning a typical DePauw Saturday for them.

No special events surround the basketball season but study didn't interfere with game attendance—Bowman fairly bulged with crowds of record size and spirit.

The Old Gold Day Queen and her attendants being paraded before the crowd at Blackstock Stodium.

Every fraternity and sorority house at DePauw was elaborately decorated for Old Gold Day, but the Phi Psi's capped the prize among the fraternities.

"D" Men — De Pauw's Heroes

One of the chief aims of the DePauw "D" Association this year was the generation of some much-needed "college spirit" here at DePauw. The "D" men, who are all winners of one or more varsity letters, sought to accomplish this goal in several ways. The Association, cooperating with the Student Governing Board in an enthusiasm drive, began the football season by staging a series of pep rallies and torchlight parades. It also bought complete new uniforms for our six cheerleaders and sponsored them throughout the year.

Another important project was the sending of courtesy cards to all DePauw ex-letter men to enable them to attend athletic contests without charge. To round out a year full of activity the group held its annual "D" men's picnic in the spring.

Men Behind the Action

Issuing football equipment and uniforms, refereeing basketball scrimmages, timing runners in trials—these are typical of the countless tasks of the trainers and managers. Though they spend many long hours in just plain work, there is an attraction about the job which usually draws them back again each year. Their work is not in the limelight but is nevertheless an essential element in the success of DePauw's athletic program. In recognition of their services, the managers and trainers receive numerals after two years, and letters after three years of service.

Tigers Win Two Games

DePauw University's erratic Tigers suffered through an unsuccessful football campaign winning two games and losing six. Rochester University and Earlham College were the only opponents humbled by the Old Gold.

Edwin R., "Mike" Snavely, a graduate of the University of Illinois reploced Robert Hipper as head coach this year. "Mike" came to take over at the Tiger helm from Pennsylvonia State Teacher's College, East Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania.

DePauw traveled to Lawrence for their opening contest to suffer a 33-0 defeat. Louisville University soddened the Tigers home debut by hanging a 38-0 loss on the Greencastle record book.

Rochester University entered the Tiger lair to be upset by an inspired DePauw aggregation, 13-12. Four thousand Old Gold Day spectators watched the Tigers come from behind paced by the hard-running of Ed Gruener and Bob Griesser. Gene Fox and John Behler scored touchdowns and John Hull added the precious extra point.

DePauw visited Carleton College homecoming, losing, 36-0. The following week-end DePauw ended a 57 year-old series with the powerful Butler Bulldogs by losing again, 35-0.

Earlham's Quakers fell before the Tigers offensive, 25-6. Chuck McKibbin scored twice with Griesser and Gruener adding the other touchdowns. Wabash closed the season by stinging the Tigers with a 27-7 defeat in the battle for the Monon Bell.

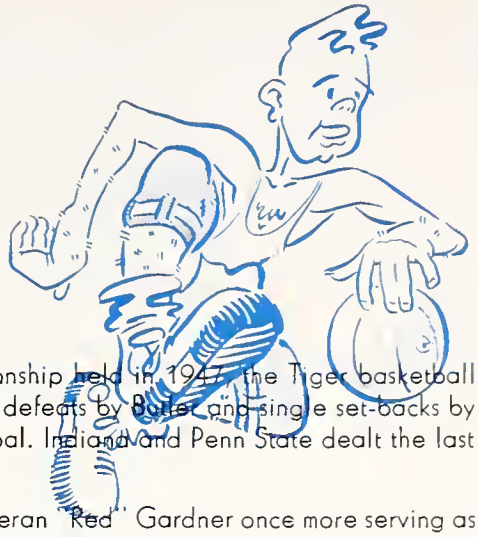
It's Hoosier Madness



Driving hard to retain the Indiana Conference Championship held in 1947, the Tiger basketball squad ground out 14 victories against six losses. A pair of defeats by Butler and single set-backs by Ball State and Franklin stopped the Tigers short of their goal. Indiana and Penn State dealt the last two defeats to the Tigers.

The Tiger attack centered around the fast-break with veteran "Red" Gardner once more serving as the main cog in the Bengal offense. Gardner, who challenged "Stoogie" Jones seasonal record of 257 points, played a flawless game from the pivot position directing the teams offense and performed beautifully off the backboards.

John Mate, "Deac" Freeland, Tom Beck, and Dick Light worked as a charging fast-break unit. Mate, who garnered 30 points against Chicago University, was particularly adapted to long set-shots. Freeland was the main-stay in the fast break. His sharp passing and speed making him invaluable. Beck and Light specialized in floor work and rebounding.

Mac Parker and John Stauffer, a pair of remarkable freshmen, furnished the Tiger squad with fine reserve support.

Tigers Capture 14 Victories

Hanover provided the Tigers with their opening competition at Bowman Gym. Gardner and Beck poured through 17 and 14 points as the Bengals worked to a sound 71-52 victory. Franklin, paced by Bob Satters 28 tallies through the net sent DePauw to defeat for the first time, 68-65 in an overtime thriller.

Indiana's speedy Hoosiers completely out-classed the Greencastle lads with a 59-43 defeat. The Tigers then rolled over seven straight opponents before losing again. A 50-47 decision over Wabash, a 56-44 win over Carleton, and a thrilling 58-55 triumph over Ball State highlighted the drive.

Butler visited the Bengal Den and trounced the Tigers badly, 67-42. Jimmy Doyle and Ralph O'Brien collected 19 points apiece for the victors.

Lose Six Tilts — Two to Butler

The Tigers got back onto the "victory Trail" by stomping over Chicago University, 77-37. Mote's 30 and Gardner's 15 paced the scoring. Earlham fell to the Bengals and then the DePauw scoring record for Bowman Gym of 87 points was challenged as Concordia of St. Louis fell to DePauw 83-58.

Earlham dropped another decision to the DePauw Old Gold and Penn State handed the Tigers their third reversal of the season. Knox withered 67-49 under the Tigers fast-break. Ball State turned back the Bengals with another loss 48-46 at Muncie and Butler defeated Tigers 48-44 at Indianapolis. DePauw captured their final contest of the year from Wabash, 48-34.

A promising reserve squad hung up 10 wins against five losses. Jim Cory, Glenn Eckelman, Buddy Vear, Jack Chapman, Bob Lyons, and Bob Agan led the way for the future—varsity men.

The DePauw nine opened its season away from home at Earlham on a rain-soaked diamond where they came out on top of a high scoring game, 12-8. Frank Adams sparked the Bengal attack by stealing home twice in the course of the nine inning tilt.

Following the Earlham victory came three straight set-backs. First, Chicago ruined our home opener by taking home a 4-3 win. Then Purdue handed us our second defeat, 15-0, at the LaFayette field. Finally, Ball State, scoring 6 runs in the bottom half of the eighth inning, routed us, 8-3.

The Erdman nine then underwent a few changes in the lineup and the next week-end stopped Hanover at Hanover, 5-4. It wasn't long, however, before the losing fever again struck the team and there was another string of three straight defeats. Wabash this time started the ball rolling by pushing across three runs in the bottom of the ninth inning to win, 13-12. Two days later they repeated with another victory, this time by a wider margin, 15-3. Traveling to Canterbury the Gold and Black were determined to end their two game losing streak and for most of the game it looked as though they would but Canterbury, like Ball State and Wabash, came from behind, scoring a run in the eighth and one in the ninth, to finish ahead, 7-6. This was a tough defeat for Tiger pitcher Jack Stevens as he limtied Canterbury to five hits while his team was collecting nine.

Charlie Erdman's sound coaching at last began to bring results. In the Bengals next game, a return engagement with Ball State, Art Beyler turned in a brilliant performance on the mound by shutting out the Red and White from Muncie, 3-0. Clark Bedrosian came through with a home run in the third inning for the DePauw nine.

Butler's highly subsidized team then rolled over our poorly clad aggregation, 5-0, and 4-1.

Then in a game played in the "Windy City", Chicago fell before Jack Hayden's fast ball, 3-2. Hayden won his own game by driving in the winning run on a triple.

Victories over Hanover and Earlham ended the DePauw baseball season. Hanover was dropped, 6-4, as Page, Adams, and Albaugh led the Bengal attack with two hits apiece. On Memorial Day we closed our season with a 4-1, triumph over Earlham.

Fast Action on the Diamond

Jim Highland, huge catcher for 1947 nine. Although big Jim's batting eye was a little weak, his services behind the plate proved invaluable throughout the year. Clark Bedrosian, hard-hitting left-hander who specialized in pounding doubles. One of the highlights of the season was his home run over the right field wall in the Ball State game. Don Page, flashy freshman shortstop, advanced from the sidelines to a starting berth and was lead-off man for the last few games. Art Beyler was one of the three Tiger pitchers to win two games during the 1947 campaign.

Tiger Diamond Men

Al Kirkendall, roving left-fielder for the Bengal nine. "Kirk" didn't connect often but when he did it was for extra bases. Pete Barber, eagle-eye lead off man who always seemed to be on base. The batting crown for the team and most number of hits for the year both go to Pete. Bob Gipson, speedy center-fielder who made many a spectacular catch when they were most needed. He led the team in stolen bases with seven.

Dick Albaugh, steady second-baseman, finished third in team batting. Roger Rada, freshman first sacker. "Rog" liked to catch opponents leading off first too far. Frank Adams, chief strategist and clean up man for the Tiger nine. Frank is looking forward to another year at third-base. Jack Stevens, fire-ball relief pitcher who saw a lot of action on the mound. He held Canterbury to five hits last season.

Third in Little State

DePauw's track team won three and lost two meets in the 1947 season, finished third in Little State competition, and sent Zwierlein to the Big State meet at Notre Dame where he won the javelin throw. Canterbury, Earlham, and Wabash were defeated, with Ball State and Louisville handing the Tigers defeats.

Thinly Clads Take 3 Meets

The Tiger thinlies traveled to Danville, Indiana, for their opening meet of the season with Canterbury and Rose Poly. DePauw captured 13 firsts in the triangular affair winning easily with 93 points. Canterbury ran second with 23. Earlham fell as the Old Gold's second victim, 92-39, at Blackstock.

Ball State's Cardinals evaded the Tigers lair stunning the host team with its initial set-back, 72-59. DePauw retaliated by soundly trumping their old rival, Wabash, the following week, 80-51.

Louisville University's Red and Blue squeezed past the Tigers, 74-68, in a triangular meet with Centre College.

DePauw collected 31 points in the Little State Meet finishing fourth. Zwierlein and Parry were the only Greencastle men taking firsts in their events. Zwierlein scored double victories in the shot put and javelin throw, while Parry streaked home ahead of the field in the 220-yard dash. Big State honors went to Zwierlein the following week as he repeated his javelin winning feat.

Zwierlein led the squad scorers with 85 points followed by Parry with 59. Other consistent Tiger "tally collectors" were West, Nugent, Stoekel, Bresick and Roberts.

The DePauw Tennis team, under the guidance of Dr. Hans Grueninger, enjoyed one of its most successful seasons by winning the Little State championship and compiling five wins against two defeats on their regular schedule. Erwin Schultz highlighted the year by capturing the State singles crown while Tom McDonald and John Moorehouse teamed to duplicate his feat in the doubles competition.

A major award went to Schultz, minor letters going to McDonald, Moorehouse, Bob Bugh, Horace Filer, and Dick Hamilton.

Netmen Cop Little State

The Tiger netters opened their season in an impressive manner by downing the Wabash Caveman 9-0. Schultz, McDonald, Moorehouse, Filer, Hamilton, Bugh, and Lothamer composed the initial meet squad.

Ball State Teochers College wos the scene of the Old Gold's second match. The Tigers won a hard fought, 4-3 victory. Kalamazoo College dealt DePauw her first defeot of the year, 7-2. Bugh won the only singles match and then teamed with Filer to capture a doubles decision.

A 6-3 triumph over Miami of Oxford, Ohio and a stunning, 5-4, success over the University of Indiano squad followed. Schultz and Bugh gained single wins and the three Tiger doubles teams won, compiling the points necessary for victory. DePauw easily defeated Wabash, 6-1, for their fifth win of the season.

Little State honors came to DePauw the following week as Schultz and the team of McDonald-Moorehouse captured the single and doubles respectively. The Tigers, as a team, won handily with 49 points followed by Earlham with 21.

Notre Dame's nationally rated squad scored a 9-0 win over the Tigers before DePauw closed its season with another triumph over Miami, 8-1.

Nators Splash to Success

Aiming for a repeat Little State swimming championship the DePauw nators have splashed-out one victory thus far in the season. Under the direction of Charlie Erdman the swimmers are shaping up into one of DePauw's strongest teams.

Several moinstays from last year's superb squad were on hand leading the Bengals again this year. Dick Lyons and Glenn Steiner, veteran free-stylers, were the pace-setters in the DePauw attack backed by Bruce Amstutz, Joe Kaziny, Ed Klein and Frank Fowler.

Lyons was the Old Gold leading point collector last season. He was also winner of the 100 yard dash in the state meet. Steiner starred on the undefeated 1942 DePauw nator team and holds several pool records. He is considered one of the top dash men in Tiger history.

Amstutz and Everett Reed were the pace-setters in the back-stroke, with Kaziny, Lou Sauer and Bruce Baden listed as breast stroke men.

Dave Walker, Jim Harrison, Walton Fritz, and Woody Wienrichter filled in as free-style and distance men.

Nine meets were scheduled for this year. Two home and home struggles were arranged with Ball State and Illinois Tech. Other contests were drawn-up with Fenn College, Oberlin, Loyola of Chicago, University of Chicago, and Indiana University.

Golfers Take Little State

A fine seasonal record of eight victories, one tie, and one defeat, along with the Little State Championship, was compiled last year by the DePauw golf team. This was one of the best squads to be produced at this school.

Dan Guinnup rode at the held of the team with an out standing 18-hole average of 75-6. He won eight of his ten matches for the Tigers and turned-in the second low medal score in the state meet of 154. George Bichler and Bob Griesser followed right along behind Guinnup with season averages of 80 and 80.5 respectively. Both of these men were consistent winners over Tiger opposition.

GOLF TEAM

Linkmen Win Eight Matches

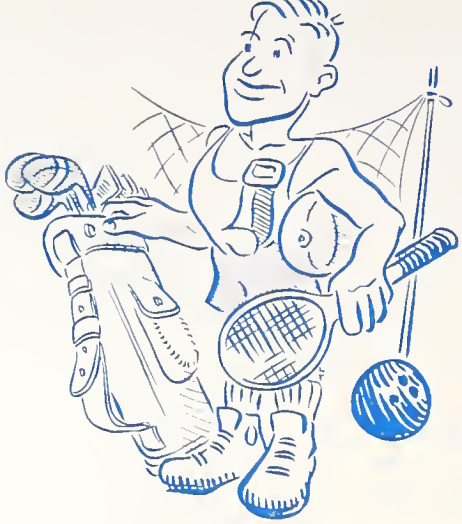
The number four position on the team was held by Bill Kramer, a mighty little fellow who turned in excellent scores against Butler, Franklin, and Wabash. Bill Cline and Joe Gift completed the Tiger roster in the number five and six spots. In five meets Cline averaged 81.5, Gift compiling a 82.5 in four matches.

Two early victories over Wabash started the Tiger link-men off on the right foot. A 16-5 decision was won at Crawfordsville in the first meeting and a 23-4 run-away favored the squad in the second 18-hole match.

Illinois Tech succumbed easily to the torrid Greencastle team and then a stubborn Butler aggregation blemished the victory string with a 9-9 tie. Miami, Franklin, and Earlham fell before the Tiger attack on a four-day road trip.

DePauw scored double wins over Illinois Tech and Bradley University in a triangular meet and then suffered their only defeat of the year to Butler in the last match of the year.

The Bengal golfers swept through the Little State Tournament with a 633 total. Purdue won the state crown with a 614 score with Indiana second, one stroke ahead of DePauw.



I-M-Rivalry is Bitter

Intramurals have agin stepped into the campus spotlight. As usual the enthusiasm runs high and hard among the different houses and independent organizations as they grapple furiously for the All-Intramural Trophy.

Beta Theta Pi, defending champions, are once again at the head of the pack as they enter the home stretch. Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Kappa Psi, and Alpha Tau Omega follow in that order.

The Beta's have won the golf and speedball awards and finished high up in the standings in all the other sports. The Phi Psi's captured the ping-pong crown with Delta Tau Delta annexing the swimming trophy and Phi Delta Theta winning the tennis laurels. Bowling honors went to Delta Kappa Epsilon. Points were also awarded to each house for the players it placed on the varsity football and cross-country teams.

Basketball, volleyball, softball, track and horseshoes were on the list of intramural activities to be completed before the Intramural Trophy was presented. Sigma Chi gave advanced warning to all opposition as they swept through a pre-league basketball tournament sponsored by the intramural program.

Cheered by their loyal supporters, the girls from all classes and houses participote in a series of tournaments which offer an opportunity to master skill in the major and minor sports. Encouraging friendly competition and good teamwork, these tournaments serve as a means for making new friends. The 1948 Mirage Queens

To add the needed touch of pulchritude between the covers of the Mirage, the tradition of choosing a few of the prettiest co-eds to represent the bevy of DePauw beauties was initiated and has continued through the years. Reigning supreme over all queens are the DePauw women chosen annually for this honor.

There is an old adage in the Middle West that DePauw is famed for its unusual number of beautiful women. The truth of this statement could not have been more obvious than it was during the Mirage Beauty Queen Contest this year.

To choose from among the ninety-five contestants representing the women's houses was a pleasant but difficult task. The first elimination, held in the Little Theatre, was conducted by Mr. Paul Blomgren, economics instructor, and Mr. LeGrand Tennis, assistant professor of Romance Languages at DePauw. After narrowing the choice to forty-two contestants, the second elimination was held. The crowd of interested spectators grew as Mr. George Deiner of the Deiner Advertising Agency of Indianaoplis, chosen by the Mirage as final judge, selected fourteen semi-finalists.

Most difficult of all was this final choice of seven. However, Mr. Deiner's good judgement is shown in the following full-page feature photographs of the queens, which were taken by Clarence Kirk, commercial photographer from Indianapolis and final judge for the 1947 Mirage Beauty Queen Contest.

The class of '48 knows not only real peacetime college life, but wartime as well. Finally DePauw returned to pre-war days . . . the opening of fraternity houses . . . real joe serenades . . . bridge and coffee at the Barn . . . and long walks on lazy spring afternoons. Caps and gowns were successfully hidden from underclassmen, then donned to receive that well-earned diploma.

JUNIOR CLASS COMMITTEE

The Class of '49

With one more year of life at DPU—the Juniors are next in line to succeed the lofty seniors when they abdicate. The last class to catch a glimpse of DePauw during the war, the class of '49 represents the end of an era. When they leave, the days of the V-12 and V-5 will be merely something to conjecture upon.

Besides adding their vast intellectual capacities and social prestige to campus life, the Juniors produced, edited, and directed the Penguin Promenade in December with Barney Rapp and his orchestra providing the music.

Some af the Alpha Phi Juniars crawd around that circular staircase ta give the cameraman a thrill.

The Class of '50

Now we know the ropes . . . remembering our own freshmen days we helped the freshies find their advisors and informed them knowingly of the "snap" courses . . . joining our groans with the rest about how much harder the work was. No more freshman rule ! We were off to the Barn for coffee or a quick bridge game between classes . . . one of the few advantages of being a sophomore. Pledge duties were replaced by sophomore duties and activities played an important part in our college day. Being on the inside looking out . . . dates . . . friends . . . these are our sophomore heydays.

One of the heavier snows of the year in Greencastle where the snow is never deeper than one foot and where it never rains more than 10 inches.

FRESHMAN CLASS COMMITTEE

The Class of '51

No sooner had the class of '51, nearly five hundred strong, arrived on campus when they were caught up in the whirl of placement tests, registration, and rush. Rated tops scholastically, the class, nevertheless, wore that traditional bewildered "freshman look" for the first few weeks, until it became accustomed to the regular DePauw routine of exchange dinners, serenades, dates, athletics, and, of course, "the grind". By the end of the year, strong friendships and class spirit had been formed and the Freshmen were looking forward to a Sophomore year of bigger and better activities.

Laundry bags . . . the scourge of the freshmen. Just ask these Beta pledges.

The freshmen take over on the front steps of Rector Hall. How Frank Adams, a Junior, got into the picture the photographer wasn't able to explain.

A few of the bold Dekes gather around the boulder to tell their dates just how they didn't get away with ringing the bell.

Fraternity Government

Speaking softly and wielding the big shilalah, Kappa Tau Kappa, in its forty-sixth year at DePauw, promotes general co-operation among the fraternities. As the guiding hand behind inter-fraternity co-operation, membership in KTK has become a coveted honor. Composed of one representative from each of the twelve Greek social orders and Men's Hall Association, KTK handles relationships and administrative associations between fraternities and the school. This year Kappa Tau sponored the return of two "they-did-it-before-the-war" traditions: women paying for Sunday night dates; and dinner dates in the men's houses before the annual KTK dance. Each year Kappa Tau is in for a crowning—literally—for its president has the honor of placing the diadem upon the royal head of Her Majesty, the Old Gold Day Queen. The duplicate bridge tourney was a new addition to those campus wide events sponsored by KTK. Each house and residence choose their potential Culbertson's and one Friday evening in February was devoted to a concentrated bridge session.

Composed of Freshmen from each fraternity and MHA, the Freshman Interfraternity Council's purpose is to create and promote good feelings among the fraternity pledge classes and maintain unity in the freshman class. The council arranges for pledge class smokers during the year; these informal get-togethers held in the fraternity houses help foster better relations omong the freshmen in the different organizations. Besides smokers the FIC is also responsible for the freshman picnic and other freshman activities, such as the burning of the "pots."

Panhellenic Council

Clad in navy blue jackets, nine seniors, representing DePauw's nine social sororities, guide and control sorority policies and activities during the school year. Beside these nine seniors, the Panhellenic Council has one junior representotive from each house who will inherit her senior sister's jocket in the spring. It is the duty of these girls to keep sorority life running smoothly at DePauw and enforce the rules of rush. By joint meetings with Kappa Tau Kappa, inter-fraternity council, an opportunity for on exchange of ideas is offered and a basis for understanding between men's and women's organizations established.

Of course, the Council is busiest during rush, fall and spring, when they must see that each girl and house observes the rules set up by the DePauw Panhel and also by the National Panhellenic Council. The Council, however, remains active throughout the whole school year. Besides their annual donce held in the spring Panhel and Kappa Tau Kappa initiated and sponsored a duplicate bridge tourney which they hope to make a traditional part of DePauw activities.

The inter-sorority sing, revived by the Panhellenic Council after the war, gives the sororities a chance to exhibit their musical skill and talent without disturbing competition. This year Panhellenic Council awarded two scholarships to DePauw girls, again proving its value to the university and the groups it represents. Sororities at DePauw owe a great deal of their success to the Panhellenic Council.

Rush is On

"And in the beginning there was"—rush week. Through the campus one could feel an atmosphere of excitement and suspense. Jittery rushees stood in anxious lines as they went through the routine of regulated calling. There were hundreds of names and faces, names ond faces all to be matched. Yet, everyone sensed the importance of the week, for students were choosing the fraternity or sorority to which they would belong through college days ond through their entire lives. After a hectic week filled with parties, formal and infcrmal, came the climax—pledging. The strain of those days may be immeasurable, but who could imagine DePauw without rush week.

Alpha Chi Omega

Autumn saw the return of the girls of Alpha Chapter of Alpha Chi Omega, wearing the "new look," perhaps, but, nevertheless, retaining the old ideals of university and sorority life.

The Alpha Chis took a deep breath and plunged headlong into another full year devoted to scholarship, activities, and fraternity. Two trophies were added to the AX collection this year; one won for best Old Gold Day decorations in the women's division, and the other, the Sigma Chi Sweetheart Bell, awarded to Marilyn Baker at the Sig Bell formal.

The "Let's Scrub 'em" theme of the Old Gold day decorations, carried out complete with bubbles and clothesline, won first place in the women's competition. "Senior Spooks" went spreading Halloween cheer down sorority row with pillow cases over their heads. Teas and open houses, as well as the traditional dances and the annual Christmas party, rounded the fall and winter calendar. Cold snowy evenings were spent cozily in front of the fireplace in the new bumroom. Then spring in all it "fitful fever" arrived, bringing in its wake a wonderful series of backyard picnics, sundeck gatherings, and after-dinner sings on the front porch. Swingout, a waiters banquet, cap and gown hunt, all house activities signified the approach of graduation time.

In June the girls of the golden lyre completed another unforgettable chapter in the book of Alpha Chi Omega. To the memories of a grand and exciting year was added the prospect of the coming fall, and welcoming a foreign exchange student into their midst.

Alpha Gamma Delta

Before the routine of classes had completely returned, the Alpha Gams threw themselves into planning one of their top years. The Halloween and Christmas parties seemed more fun than ever. A long Indian summer encouraged serenades, picnics, and a late hockey season.

Facing their last year at college together, the seniors crammed all the fun possible into their full schedules. Engagement rings, birthdays, or just chit-chats were hailed as excuses for popular partying. Before many weeks had passed, the cry, "Seniors!" became the accepted way of telling the rest of the house that closing hours were at hand and hot coffee was about to be served to the class of '48 down in the kitchen.

The juniors, realizing they were upper-classmen for the first time, put their enthusiasm to use by planning two formals which would be hard to forget. Starting the year off right was the pledge formal, " 'Twas the Night Before Christmas." In the spring all the Alpha Gams had congratulations to sing to the juniors again after another terrific dance.

Sophomore duties were forgotten when that class decided to hold a hayride exclusively for them. What happened? It rained, but the fireplace made a lovely campfire.

Pledge overnites strengthened house spirit despite the practical jokes of freshmen. The confusion of "pie" beds, confiscated shoes, and water fights only added to the fun.

Everyone agreed, after Gold-digger's, that the turnabout dinner really gave the evening a good send-off. Excitement from a weekend at the Kentucky derby for many of the girls spread through the entire house. Then the traditional waiters' banquet, swing-out, senior breakfast-in-bed, and cap and gown hunt brought the year to its close only too soon.

Alpha Omicron Pi

The AOPi's returned to their newly-painted, white house on the corner of Bloomington and Anderson to take up, once again, their busy college days. The house was filled, at first, with the exchange of summer news and the rejoining of long-parted friends. Soon, however, the conversation turned to campus life; and dates and study became table topics.

The chapter swelled to sixty-nine, the largest group of AOPi's at DePauw in many years, filling the house and three annexes.

We viewed with pride the AO Brothers' Rochester clinic which took second place on Old Gold Day. Another humorous part in the pre-winter festivities was the W.S.S.F. auction, which turned many girls into waitresses for the ATO's. During the fervor of fall activities plans were laid for the fall formal—a real pledge dance. We looked forward to Thanksgiving, but it was soon forgotten in the Christmas rush. When the spirit of St. Nick fell upon the campus, the AOPi's joined in the annual Christmas party with their neighbors across the street. A strenuous three weeks, followed by a wonderful rest; and then, with Christmas presents still in hand, we trudged back to DePauw and the grueling task ahead . . . exams.

Another short breathing spell and we were back on the books, with a new semester packed full of study and spring ahead of us.

We ushered in the serenade season with the strains of "Alpha O" and "Moonlight on the Campus" and made these the highlights of our week-end serenades.

At the year's end, following an alumnae day party, the eighteen seniors bid sad farewell to the good times with their friends at DePauw, and went out to face the cold, cruel world.

Alpha Phi

Surveying the campus from its vantage point on the corner of Sorority Row, the home of the Gamma Alpha Phis watched with interest the events of another DePauw year. This was to be the last that its view would extend down the crosswalk to Harrison, to Minshall and to East College for the fulfillment of the Union Building promise would end this long range vision.

Its first view of its inhabitants for the year was the sight of blue-jeaned figures trekking up the winding stairs to settle themselves for a semester of work and play.

The pace quickened, the vision blurred—the Phis were caught in the whirl of registration and rush. Peering questioningly at the activities that followed and groaning a little under the scurrying feet, the big white house submitted willingly to the whims of its tennants. It cringed under the pounding hammers and accepted its fate, undergoinging numerous transformations.

For Old Gold Day it sported a proud banner supporting our Tigers . . . the night of the junior party spooks and goblins reined . . . and for the Christmas dance a fir tree sparkled from the stair well while a rain of gardenias fell in the living room.

The chapter house blinked a little when, the night after Gold Diggers, an Alpha Phi bridal procession descended the spiral stairs and the house became the site of a marriage ceremony. Men wandering through its upper halls and lounging casually in the rooms the night before had seemed like quite enough for one weekend.

Then came the last of its tasks of the year . . . providing a safe hiding place for senior caps and gowns . . . exams . . . graduation . . . and its door closed again on another memorable year.

Delta Zeta

On September 15 the DZ's were together again in their newly redecorated colonial home on Washington Street, ready for the busy, exciting year of 1947 and '48. Things were back to normal on the DePauw campus, the enrollment hitting an all-time high and the social calender full of many interesting events.

Since the fall season was unusually warm and Indian summer lasted through many weeks, the DZ's made full use of their spacious back yard. Picnics were plentiful and many tennis matches were held on the newly laid court.

With faculty desserts, teas, exchange dinners on Wednesday nights and serenades on every weekend the D.Z.'s were really buzzing.

Knitting and bridge were the winter's before and after dinner habits, and any other time there was a moment for relaxation.

At Christmas time the twenty-five Delta Zeta pledges were honored at their traditional Yuletide Cotillion which turned out to be a big success. With spring, the DZ's had more picnics, hayrides, the traditional waiter's dinner, and another formal house dance during spring rush week. The long walk home became a pleasure with the coming of warm weather, and the porch a popular spot for bridge chatting.

In the last month of school the house on the hill was filled with the excitement of the annual camp and gown hunt, Swingout, and the not too joyful thoughts of final exams. Plans for June weddings and summer vacations became the topics of conversation and sunbathing competed with the inevitable need for more study.

Although the departure of the seniors was felt deeply at the end of the year, the Delta Zeta's felt that this year was one of the most prosperous and happy ones spent at DePauw.

Kappa Alpha Theta

Last September fourteenth the liveliness of 52 Thetas came to break the summertime peace in their colonial house on the hill. These restless 52 plunged immediately into the routine of a spirited rush, endless afternoon classes interspersed with "Barn bridge," and letting hems down to fourteen inches!

Soon, however, came Old Gold Day and Dads' Day, an even greater upsurge of activity. Mock initiation rites for the dads and Mortar Board balloons distracted everyone 'till they, too, were eclipsed by the proud pronouncement that three of the yearbook beauty queens were Thetas. Then Greencastle's unusual moisture-less autumn prolonged the serenade era, both "balcony" and "Joe;" many a Theta learned as never before to appreciate, from a leaning-out-of-the-window position, the impromptu warblers on the back lawn . . . Remembered also is that day near Thanksgiving when Dean Colpitts proved herself an hysterical WSSF "errand girl" as she trudged a la middy blouse and "sneakers" to make senior beds and answer the 'phone. And there was the Phi Delta "King For a Day," too, entertained with a steak-luncheon and a special brunette chorus line . . . The side-yard-at-twilight picnic with the Sigma Chis and the restoration of the Beta-Theta-Pie, with the Thetas providing the pie, the coffee, and entertainment.

Another holiday season brought a stately Christmas tree in the picture window, vacation followed closely by the black-coffee finals' period.

Soon it was spring again bringing those sophomore days of waiters' banquet, swing-out, and robe hunt; the junior "fluff-time" with third-floor sun bathing accompanied by Nellie Lutcher on the vic and, finally, the sad time of senior good-byes and last memories of four years of Theta living.

Kappa Kappa Gamma

It was a record breaking year for the wearers of the golden key. Sixty-two Kappas, the largest number in the chapter's history, trekked back to the house on Locust street from points as far distant as Alaska. A lazy Indian summer stretching into November encouraged afternoon bridge games. Between class "gab sessions" on the front porch competed against afternoons in the library. In October, bum-room conversation centered around the hilarious skit given by the Betas at the annual Halloween party. Cold weather came and spare time was spent at bridge or coffee in the Barn. A Christmas tea honoring Miss Florence Flinn, Iota's gracious housemother, highlighted the holiday festivities. On January 9, Kappas and their dates journeyed into the world of make-believe when they attended the pledge dance, "Once Upon A Time". Midyear exams brought a temporary lull in social activities. But, with the beginning of the second semester, exchange dinners and serenades once more became the rule. Spring arrived at last with its obvious distractions and was ushered in by a formal dance. The sun porch became the most popular spot in the house. Seniors spent many sleepless nights deciding where to hide that cap and gown while juniors became amateur sleuths probing into every conceivable hiding place. Devotees of "the game" maintained their loyalty to it right up to the last day of school. Amidst plans for summer vacation and the confusion of packing the Kappas managed to find time to study and survive another strenuous exam week. Then came graduation and, with it, the realization that a happy and memorable year had also been a fleeting one.

Pi Beta Phi

The Pi Phis had another wonderful year together in fraternity spirit, social functions, and activities. After the strain of rush week, the Pi Phis settled down and decided to pile up further hours on their majors and minors. Fall week-ends were highlighted by football games and date nights. The traditional serenades were carried out with the exchange of jivey as well a dreamy music.

Besides the welcomed exchange dinners on Wednesday nights, the pre-war custom of having fraternities over for a pie supper was revived.

The girls of the wine and blue held their major dance in the fall, in honor of the pledge class. With the theme of "Sweets Shoppe," the dance was a huge success.

Just before Thanksgiving vacation the Pi Phis held their annual Faculty Tea. After the turkey dinners, the girls donned their holiday spirit for their annual Christmas caroling. The heavenly music you heard in the wee hours of the morning just before the Christmas holidays, was the group of Pi Phis singing to each house on campus, leaving a cheery wreath behind.

During finals the Pi Phi house turned into what seemed to be a masquerade party. Actually, the unusual costumes seemed to lead to better mental concentration.

But soon the girls were into the full wing of the second semester and were looking forward to the spring dance. As warmer weather approached, week-end serenades were scheduled.

Then graduation day came, and the Pi Phi seniors left with the class of '48. It was wonderful year! Remember? But another year will bring with it another challenge for Pi Beta Phi.

Mason Hall

One hundred twenty-eight girls returned in the fall to freshly painted rooms and a new Mason Hall housemother. For the first time the fourth floor lounge was used as a room, and on the other floors girls went scurrying from triples to sleep in dorms converged from lounges.

The fall brought first, house elections, and then, the excitement of campus elections. Next came the fall dance, "Civilization Take it Away," and also the formal Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners. Many times the decorations committees saw 2 A.M. roll around and were still in the midst of paint and glue. Doing pledge duties for the Delta Chis and having President Wildman and Dean Manhart as "Bartenders Extroordinary" were the aftermaths of the W.S.S.F. auction chapel. The first semester ended with the usual exam rush.

The spring dance and the traditional cap and gown hunt were among the second semester highlights since the hall contained a majority of seniors, sophomores running a close second, things were pretty tough for the juniors. The year ended with picnics and sunbaths leaving the class of forty-eight with memories of freshman year in the fraternity houses, a manless sophomore year in Rector Hall, and the normal college life of the last two years in Mason. It had been a good four years; and, though commencement was sad, the girls looked inquiringly into the future while those who did not graduate looked forward happily to next year in Mason.

Lucy Rowland Hall

With the memory of having housed V-12's for two years still fresh in mind this year, Lucy again resounded with feminine chatter and laughter.

Dorm life never changes though . . . We, as many before us, enjoyed after-hour spreads and we, as they, found time to polish up our singing for serenades and still have a few minutes left over for sleep and study.

Before Thanksgiving the Lucy girls enjoyed a pre-Thanksgiving feast . . . a formal banquet complete with turkey and cranberries . . . only a prelude to the real holiday ahead of us. There just wasn't time for everything in the academic and activity line that was scheduled for the pre-Christmas weeks. And these hectic weeks ended with a night spent between intermittant packing and running to the window to listen and applaud for migrant carolers.

We returned to the same spinning pace to finals looming before us.

Early second semester the girls gave their annual faculty tea and time for the spring dance rolled around. Long walks on those beautiful days, sunbathing, and picnics all competed with the serious side of DePauw life.

Seniors staggered under the senior themes and exams. In the midst of cramming the cap and gown hunt was on. Juniors dashed madly through the dorm searching in every nook; seniors glanced warily at strategic hiding spots. To finish off the week was the formal senior Swing-out. Memories, bequests, and predictions were recalled by seniors and impressed upon others. No one wanted that perfect evening to end for, as that night came to a climax, so did the school year—an unforgetable one for the girls of Lucy.

Rector Hall

With the coming of September one hundred and thirty-seven green freshies invaded Rector Hall accompanied by their respective families, suitcases, and a flurry of excitement. Climaxing the end of a busy day was their first serenade, a thrill that will be long remembered. Talk of Teen Clubs changed to sororities; the man back home was conquered by the DePauw hero, and orientation and rush filled every available minute.

After the first few weeks of "I wish I were home" had subsided, college life settled down to an almost normal routine consisting of classes, spreads, house meetings, study table, bridge games . . . and dates. Exchange dinners and song practices were all new experiences for everyone and definitely aided in highlighting the routine events of the year.

So many things stand out when thinking over the year . . . an after hours party with hilarious entertainment . . . the first faculty tea honoring Rector's new house mother, Miss Helen Curtis Davis, when the girls first experienced being hostesses of a party instead of the customary guests . . . the Christmas formal, "Belles and Beaux," with its blue and silver decorations will be long remembered as a completely "super" evening.

After Christmas vacation, semester exams and all night studying rolled around only too soon. We thought it would be in style to study for twenty-four hours as this is what we heard the upper-classmen did. But to our utter dismay we found it an impossibility to acquire the desired results. Exams were followed by spring weather, picnics, and another dance. By June the Rectorites had become thoroughly "collegiate." With freshmen pots now in the closet, they are looking forward to a wonderful sophomore year at DePauw.

Florence Hall

Still standing after fifty-six years of Greencastle weather, the foundations of Florence Hall were rocked again this year by the patter of feminine feet. The largest number of freshman coeds ever to inhabit the halls of "Flossie" began their activities with the Old Gold Day decorations.

To show their respect for the age of "dear old Flossie", the girls successfully turned back the clock at their Christmas dance to those years of the gas lamp and parasol—bustle and celluloid collar.

In addition to the soft southern drawl of Mrs. Richard Scott, housemother, deep masculine tones of the housefather, Mr. Scott, could be heard at various times as he stopped to chat or generously offered to repair the coke machines.

Yes, a well filled social calendar plus hours of study, all combined to give Florence one of its busiest and happiest years!

Locust Manor

'Way back on a bright September day thirty-eight eager and slightly bewildered freshmen girls moved into Locust Manor. But it didn't take long to forget our bewilderment and jump onto the college merry-go-round to become well-informed DePauw coeds, glibly talking of campus traditions and activities.

Leaving a cloud of dust settling slowly behind, the Locust girls proved to be famous track stars, outdoing even Superman in that race against time to make dinner at Lucy.

Our December formal, "Carousel," and our May dance were outstanding and memorable events.

Now finals are over, and it's time to go home. With the taxi driver impatiently honking outside the door and the Monon whistle ringing in our ears, we turn to bid a fond farewell to Locust Manor. Maybe we did leave her a little the worse for wear, but she's still strong enough to shelter more green freshies next year.

Alpha Tau Omega

In a year, in two, or in five none of us will remember whether this was the twentieth, thirtieth or fiftieth year that ATO scraped away the summer cobwebs and opened the doors to another nine months of its inimitable traditions. The facts and figures will duly escape us, but we are forced to confess that it really doesn't matter. Thoughts of DePauw much more important than this statistical data will flood our memories . . . friends and times barely dimmed by the years.

The transition was over. We graced our presence with a new housemother, Mrs. Ivalu Reagan, made plans for complete redecoration and joined in the melee for campus recognition. We had a lot of fun doing it . . . bound together by more than the mere bonds of brotherhood . . . bonds of mutual respect and admiration.

It was strictly out of our dreams, a stab at the immortality of memory, the mixing of fun and fancy with the serious endeavor we came for. We keep telling ourselves it was the "big" things like the fall dance in Hell, intramural points and graduation, but it was really the small things that gave us our biggest kick, that lapped at the fringes of our remembering.

Whatever it was, we will want to come back and place over the front door of the Seminary Street hotel a plaque reading, "1947-48—through these portals passed the men who had the most fun."

Beta Theta Pi

With the echoes of last year's cry, "back to normal," fading away into the autumn haze, the Betas began another attempt at a "pre-war year." Freshmen were no longer predominantly veterans, and upperclassmen no longer ranged from '43 to '49, but the few remaining silver greys were still resorting to, "Well, before the war, we used to do it this way!"

The belated centennial celebration in the fall brought back one out of every five men initiated into the chapter since its founding in 1845, and provided the chapter with incentive for campus achievement. For nights after, the centennial brought small nightmares for the active chapter—dreams of irate landladies and thousands of milling alums. But when the turmoil subsided, each Beta realized that the time was well spent, and the alums seemed well pleased with the chapter's reconversion from war-time dormancy to a place of cherished respect on the campus.

The maintenance of social and athletic traditions conflicted sharply with the increased emphasis on academics . . . unfortunately for academics. The kaleidoscopic shifting of boy-girl combinations during the year brought wonderment to the eyes of the freshmen, but to the worldly upperclassmen, a further appreciation of the advantages of a liberal education.

Beta's white-pillared house creaked and groaned through the traditional series of dances, exchange dinners, fun nights, and tubbings as it fulfilled the perennial function of providing lodging for the Purdue, Indiana, and Wabash guests trying to upset the existing girl-boy ratio.

As Delta of Beta Theta Pi moved into the third year of its second century, the chapter continued to dream of its new house and to hunt room reservations of its second century.

Delta Chi

The DX brothers came roaring back to South Locust Street in September and immediately pitched in to clean up after the retreat of interior decorators, carpenters, and painters. When the smoke of rush week cleared away, twenty-one pledges were yelled into the bond and sent out to try their "pot-luck".

Delta Chi's "Irregular Construction Battalion" spent the eve of Old Gold Day laboring upon a twelve foot DPU tiger that gulped down Rochester gridmen and twitched its tail. Its actives routed the pledge class in the annual Rhine—Pinman football game. DX men pulled out a victory in the tug-of-war and won the suitcase race at KTK's Field Day. In real Putnam County style the brothers serenaded during one week-end, from a rack used for the autumn hay-ride. And then there was the night the sandwich man found himself accidentally standing in the showers with the steady, pinned, and engaged victims.

For the fall dance Villa Lante was transformed into an Indian village complete with council cave, totem poles, and an unfortunate lass burning at the stake.

In a novel exchange dinner the chapter purposely walked in unannounced upon a sorority at dinner and expressed their disappointment that the girls had forgotten the scheduled exchange. They consented to take the whole sorority back to the Delta Chi house where a banquet was waiting and the whole gag explained. The DePauw chapter was host for the DX Mid-west Conference; more than two hundred of the bond stayed the week-end. And suddenly it was caps and gowns for the seniors and summer plans for the underclassmen. Another year was at an end—another year of memorable Delta Chi living.

Delta Kappa Epsilon

After twenty-one years in the "Country Club" on East Anderson, the Dekes officially adopted the motor scooter as the solution to the problem of that half-mile hike to campus, and now help rouse late-sleeping Phi Delts by the roar of the motors en route to eight o'clocks. In addition, to making it more convenient to attend classes, mechanization has provided better safeguarding of the Deke's private claim to Robe-Ann Park, occasionally contended in the past.

Fall saw the landslide for Charlie Roberts as president of the student body, and the designation of Jim Little as DePauw's most valuable football player. Undoubtedly the Dekes would also have qualified for the most distinctive mascot as well, after the brief, if meteoric, career of DePew, the defrosted skunk.

Other modifications around the house include a series of frescoes of European scenes, painted in the bum-room by Count Paul Cziracky, Hungarian artist. Also the engagement and wedding rings on the fingers of Deke sweethearts have reached an all-time high for the chapter.

Rudolf, the old house dog, has vanished into parts unknown; soon to be replaced by another whose pedigree is more certain if its appetite is more prodigious.

Then there was the traditional Toilet Bowl classic with the Phi Delts which the Dekes took 12-0 in the midst of a drizzling rain. A record crowd of nineteen spectators braved the weather to watch the players slide around in the mire as Hartley intercepted a pass and went over for a Deke touchdown, followed by Buettin's completion of a pass to Harney for a second.

And things went on much as usual in the old stone castle 'way out in the suburbs of Greencastle.

Delta Tau Delta

For the first few days returning Delts, last fall, worked diligently around the old "Shelter." Londscape artists, painters—brothers all (even actives pushed lawn mowers) worked to maintain that old "Country Club" look, and even managed to add a "new look."

With this task behind them, the Delts settled down to their seventy-sixth year of studies and campus activities. To sparkle the new semester, the fraternity celebrated the return of Vic and Mrs. Cue (cook supreme) while Mrs. Nira Raedel returned to for her second year as housemother.

For the first few weeks it was hard to forget vacation—the warm sunny days seemed to favor datin' and walkin' over studies. But as exams and cold weather approached, "hit the books" became a hackneyed expression, and the Delts settled down to "another year."

There were the usual all-night preparations for Old Gold Day—bleary-eyed rhines and glue pots, wire, paper, and paint—the last minute shuffle—and fraternal pride over "our" decorations. The following months filled the calendar with many other social highlights. "Life of the Party" replaced the usual winter formal—a strictly casual affair. Then came the traditional yuletide Christmas party . . . State Day in Indianapolis . . . the spring dance with the usual jitters wondering if the weather would cooperate for dancing in the sunken garden. Intermingled with all this were many exchange dinners . . . an occasional Saturday night open house . . . and, of course, now and then time out for that old familiar activity known as studying. Then, quite suddenly, another year was gone, the midnight oil was all used up, and the "shelter" was empty, waiting for another big DePauw year.

Delta Upsilon

The 1947-48 school year found fair Delta U. carrying on with its usual rigorous and tiring agenda. Last year's freshmen, promoted to the role of active members in good standing, continued to shine in their usual fashion, although somewhat confused and frightened with their new-born responsibility

Despite the loss of 16 men at graduation last year, the upper classmen managed to carry their reserved and dignified air through many nerve-trying escapades by the somewhat daring pledge class.

The highlight of the local social season occurred on the evening of December 13, when Delta Upsilon presented its winter formal, Moonlight and Roses, amidst some two-hundred dozen scent-pleasing red rose buds. The dance attracted couples from all over the campus and can confidently be declared a sweeping success.

The crowded schedule of campus events kept the brothers busy throughout the year. If it wasn't Old Gold Day decorations or the house dance it was those showdown practices that always ended about two A.M. in hilarity. There was seldom a weekend when all extra sacks and all available couches weren't filled due to weekend guests or returning DU alums. Inter-house activities provided much in the way of entertainment as the annual pledge show blossomed forth with its usual risque performance. The freshmen edged the sophomores 6 to 3, and the juniors toppled the aging seniors, 12 to 0, in the intra-class football struggles. Varsity and intramural sports kept their place of importance on the DU schedule.

All in all, the "Temple" was again this year the scene of many "naughty but nice" evenings.

Lambda Chi Alpha

1947-48 was the year when there just wasn't a free week-end—or so it seemed—at the Bloomington address of Lambda Chi Alpha. From the minute rush started until spring turned everyone's fancy to thoughts of finals, graduation, or just plain vacation, it was a period of constant activity.

If it wasn't campus elections, it was Old Gold Day with the accompanying problem of decorations and the too seldom gathering of the brothers from past years. Showdown came and went, but the long practices beforehand will be long remembered. From fall to spring, through wins and losses, intramurals marked part of the athletic attempts of the house. To supplement the already filled sports program, the underclassmen met the upperclassmen and pledges on the "fields of friendly strife" several times during the year. The junior-senior team won the football match but its one-game winning streak snapped on the basketball floor.

In the fall, Lambda Chi dates and guests wondered about their souls at the "Heaven and Hell" formal; and in the Spring, those same dates, and others, enjoyed another dance, quite a bit less eerie in character. But the dances that received the greatest acclaim—at least from the fun-lovers were the informal house affairs, such as the "Football Frolic" before the Wabash game and the annual Christmas party-dance.

Keeping Lambda Chis company in the house, on campus, and in the classroom, was a rapidly growing collie dog, Champion Herzfeld Xi—usually known simply as Xi.

Steak fries, joe serenades, exchange dinners and picnics all added their bit to make it a good, but busy year for Xi Zeta.

Phi Delta Theta

We haven't just returned from the war; we haven't just finished polishing our trophies, and we haven't just stored our "D" sweaters in moth balls. However, we are having a good time and making the most of every opportunity to serve DePauw and Phi Delta Theta.

New draperies, leather furniture, "paint-it-to-please-yourself" rooms, and a whole host of house improvements made good (eventually!) our rush promises. Mother Ogle, the bridge-playingest housemother, kept things on an even keel, while Barbara continued to provide us with some of the best meals on campus.

As usual, the Phi Delts were in good voice, and their singing group broke the stillness of the night on many serenades. Socially speaking, informal parties were ever-present as were exchange dinners and other get-togethers. In the fall our "Castle of Dreams" formal put all of our decorative talents to good use and provided one of the outstanding dance settings of the year. The spring dance was another social highlight. The regular Friday and Saturday date nights "back at the house" were always overflowing.

A class of promising pledges made our Anderson Street domicile literally filled to capacity, and the "Ron" proved to be a handy annex.

Although the Dekes still reign over the Toilet Bowl contest, our intramural teams were reinforced and put up quite a fight on the sports front. Other campus activities knew the Phi Delts were around and doing things.

Preparations are already underway for a delegation from Indiana Zeta to attend the Centennial celebration of Phi Delta Theta at the fraternity birthplace, Oxford, Ohio, next fall. 1948 also marked the beginning of the 80th year for the Phis on the DePauw campus.

Phi Gamma Delta

Phi Gamma Delta has entered its 100th year of national organization. The Centennial Convention will be held in Pittsburgh, and Lambda, having a continuous history of 92 years, will send representatives from the oldest chapter in continuous existence.

Sixty-six men, including seventeen pledges make Fijiland at DePauw the scene of long-to-be remembered events. Southern Comfort and Fiji Hospitality were an unbeatable combination for warming that chill evening of the fall formal. Transformed into a Southern mansion dancers whirled to dancetime on the first floor while others descended to the "Paddock" complete with stalls and baled hay. Five Fijimen rated varsity football positions while others fought the bitter battles of the intramural season. Another fine freshman class weathered the pledge period and climaxed its year with initiation and the annual Norris Pig Dinner. On the soggy turf the Fiji actives found themselves out-played by the pledges and the frosh won their turnabout day by a 6-0 defeat. The hot breakfast climaxing this annual pledge-active grid classic was a hit with the chilled rooters and players alike.

With the competent aid of Mother Ruth Sugg Mintzer, the cabinet led the chapter through another year of fine accomplishment upon which the future of Lambda can continue to grow. Frank Tupper, Bill Sharp, and Sam Clifford will not be forgotten as the chapter officers and leaders of Lambda '48.

Phi Kappa Psi

With a full house of men—and fourteen pledges—Phi Kappa Psi began its eighty-third year at DePauw ready to assume its place in campus life.

"Hit the books, rhines," and "Quiet hours!" echoed through the halls as scholarship received renewed emphasis. A brighter than usual freshman class struggled through the year with that Phi Eta Sigma look in their eyes.

On the social calendar, all of the old traditions were revived with vigor. The annual faculty-businessmen's smoker packed the Rockpile with profs and capitalists—apple cider and cigar smoke. In the heat of the freshman boxing matches, a bout was hastily arranged between Dr. Pierson and Dr. Evans, but circumstances prevented it from materializing.

Playing Santa Claus to underprivileged Greencastle children at their annual Christmas party, the Phi Psis continued this fine old custom begun several yeors ago. The Christmas dance, informal this year because of conflicting athletic engagements, and the Spring formal held the top positions in house social activities. Several house "get-togethers" throughout the year, designed to enliven house spirit, provided a great deal of enjoyment to Phi Psis and their dates.

A titanic grid struggle took place in late fall between the sophomores and upperclassmen. Planned to be an annual fall classic, this year's battle ended in a bitter 0-0 tie on a wet turf.

In varsity and intramural athletics the men of red and green continued to engage with lively enthusiasm. They were represented in varsity athletics by lettermen in football, basketball, baseball, swimming, ond trock. Less able men led Phi Kappa Psi on the intramural field of battle.

With the coming of spring and the graduation of seven seniors, Indiana Alpha of Phi Kappa Psi looked back on a year of advancement and enjoyment.

Sigma Chi

At two A.M. on the morning of September 18, the front door of the Sig house burst open and ten wild-eyed freshmen raced for the tower in East College intent on committing mayhem on the culprit audaciously ringing the Sigma Chi Bell. Yes, the new 1947-48 semester had started off in the Sig House with a bang! As they marched triumphantly back with their beautiful curly-haired culprit one could easily discern that old familiar look of triumph that has accompanied the protection of one of many Sig traditions. Midst the clamor and shouting and snipping of scissors came the baffled and rather frightened voice of our new housemother, Mrs. Miriam Stewart of Washington, D. C. Our lovely "mom" had nat yet been subjected to the excitement of a Sigma Chi "barbershop."

Social activities were soon inaugurated in the form of an annual tea, at which time the Sigs proudly exhibited their new housemother to the campus and faculty. Following the tea came Old Gold Day, at which time the Sigs' roaring locomotive captured second place in the house decorations contest.

It was shortly after Christmas vacation that the social season for the Sigs really hit its peak in the form of the annual Bell Formal, at which time Miss Marilyn Baker, Alpha Chi, was chosen Sweetheart of Sigma Chi and awarded the Bell Trophy. A tradition started last year, the Bell Trophy will remain in the house of the sweetheart until the following year.

The Sigs really came to life with the coming of basketball season and raced off with a big trophy in the pre-season elimination tournament. Not only has Sigma Chi carved her initials in intramurals but in varsity as well. The Sigs were amply represented on football, track, swimming, and basketball teams wearing the Black and Gold. In all phases of college life the chapter has continued to uphold and live the traditions and high principles of the school and of Sigma Chi.

Sigma Nu

Twenty-one years after Sigma Nu was established at the Virginia Military Institute, the twenty eighth chapter, Beta Beta, was founded at DePauw. Since that time Sigma Nu has grown until it now includes one hundred and one chapters.

Last September sixty men returned to live under the White Star in a newly decorated house. Extra-curricular activities were soon in full swing with political rallies, speedball games, and open house after Saturday's football games. Early fall weather also induced football and baseball games which made the corner of Seminary and College a hazard to both pedestrians and motorists.

Then on Dad's Day the chapter house was turned over to the fathers who entered into fraternity spirit by requiring dads of freshmen to wear pots and perform pledge duties. The fathers concluded the day's entertainment by going on a serenade with the chapter after hours.

The men of the chapter upheld their quota in both varsity and intramural athletics with representatives on the football, basketball, swimming and baseball teams. The Sigma Nu teams placed consistently high in intramural sports. Campus politics received its share of attention, and the house was represented on the Student Governing Board.

It is not to be imagined that the heartier extra-curricular activities were participated in to the exclusion of social life. The chapter began early in the fall with exchange dinners and serenades. The annual Christmas tree hike this year resulted in a towering forty-five foot cedar which dominated Christmas decorations on campus. The winter formal "Winterset" and the spring informal were the two big events of the social season.

Spring again found the men surveying campus life from their vantage point, the side porch.

Men's Hall Association

Longden Hall opened its ringing marble halls to the new and returning Men's Hall Association this fall, 85 actives and 42 pledges strong. After the usual nightmarish rounds of rush, the Hall settled down to a concentrated dose of books, dances (anybody want a good conversationalist blind date for the Squaw-Squeeze?), other social life (where ya goin' with that blanket?), and dangerous living (there's the dinner bell!)

The Hall men also returned to a new housemother, a charming dispenser of good will and good meals. A new counsellor system was initiated with upperclassmen officiating as Mr. Anthonys, deans of men, and shattered-hearts experts—also good for blind dates on short notice.

Longden Hall was witness to two dances a la Palladium, a dozen scat platter dances, stately teas, turbulent shower parties, Christmas and Sweetheart dinners, and a host of pajama-clad figures haunting its corridors and lounges late at night muttering cabalistic phrases of scholastic endeavor.

MHA's campus activities extended to other fields than books. Budding politicians sprang forth to the party's call in a rather quiet fall election (now, how's that we're supposed to vote?). Promising singers and instrumentalists added emphasis to the Hall's musical rating, while a melodic song group rippled the night breezes under the lucky gals' windows with rhapsodic rhythm. (It's really cold out here!)

And then June popped into view on the calendar, turning out into the world a host of brave new hearts who face the future unafraid for they have survived four years of dorm life. And so as we depart into the sunset we leave behind the always accomplished Men's Hall Association.

The independent men at DePauw are housed as a group in Longdon Hall but a great number of them live individually in private Greencastle residences and those married veterans live with their wives and families in the university quonsets, barracks or pre-fabs.

Longdon again this year was the only university residence hall for men and served a double purpose being the home of the Men's Hall Association and independents alike.

The university, still expanded far beyond its normal capacity, used Longdon as a dorm for freshmen men until they pledged and then it settled back to its usual number of inhabitants. The size and number of fraternities at DePauw being so much larger than that of the sororities there is no need for as many men's residences.

The only organized activity that the independents as a group participate in is intramurals, in which they play a prominent part; offering competition for any challengers.

THE DOWNTOWN PART OF THE CAMPUS

Manhattan Road Intersection, near Limedale, Ind., as it looks today, after 20 years' hard service.

Performance — The Real Test of Quality

A new era in construction began, in 1927, with the introduction of 'INCOR', America's FIRST high early strength Portland cement. By doing away with lost time waiting for concrete to harden, 'Incor' made concrete a ready-to-use, year-around construction material. Now what about ULTIMATE strength, long-time durability and resulting low up-keep costs? For answer, a 20-Year Condition Survey has just been completed.

Among scores of jobs surveyed is one that is close to home—Manhattan Road intersection, near Lone Star's Greencastle mill. Repaved with 'Incor' in 1927, a fleet of solid-tired Mack trucks, carrying 2100 barrels of cement passed over this concrete when it was only 40 hours old. Today, after two decades of hard service, this paving is as staunch and sound as the day it was opened — actually getting stronger with the passing years, as shown by cores drilled in July, 1947, and tested by Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory, with strength values noted on photo above. Typical of 'Incor' performance in all types of construction.

We feel sure our friends at DePauw will understand the sincere pride with which we record this record of outstanding service.

OUR SCOPE

Ours is a small shop devoted exclusively to the sale, repair, and purchase of fine violins and kindred instruments. Our dealings extend as far as Australia, France, Belgium, Great Britain, South Africa, and all parts of the United States. We mention this as the public is inclined to believe that smallness indicates limited scope.

We unqualifiedly state that no music house offers finer or better selected instruments. All are certified instruments and are sold by a staff of four who know instruments and feel that they are more than a means of trade. Our credentials? Ask any teacher, professional, or artist as to our reputation. We think that here is a reliable source of supply of the finest things.
